do you pay BT phone line rental?

now there's no need to

If you're a BT telephone customer, you're paying for something you don't need to – your phone line. Switch to ntl's 3-2-1 service, and we'll include your phone line rental in your TV subscription for only £9.25 per month.*

ntl's simple 3-2-1 call plan makes it easy to save money. You can phone anywhere you like in the UK and it will never cost you more than a local call. And what's more, you always know exactly what you're paying – 3p a minute in the daytime, 2p a minute in the evening and 1p a minute at the weekend. (All calls subject to 3.5p connection charge.)

Just £9.25 per month is enough to cover your phone line rental as well as your TV subscription. So why not give ntl a try? It's your call.

The host with the most

A new verb was recently coined on Radio 4. To 'Tarrantise' is to sow the seeds of doubt into somebody's mind, and the inspiration, of course, is Chris Tarrant, who so expertly heightens the tension as quizmaster on Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? And he will continue to do so for at least two more years, despite recent tabloid reports that he was thinking of calling it a day. 'I have just signed a new contract and can't imagine giving up while Millionaire is so hot,' Tarrant says. Those erroneous reports linked Des Lynam and Carol Vorderman with the show. Lynam once told me that he would love to present Millionaire. 'Des would be one of the few who could do it, too,' says Tarrant. He gives a mock snarl. 'But he can't do it yet.'

Tarrant's devotion to the show is not that of a hired hand. In fact he has played a key role in its evolution from an idea scribbled on the back of a napkin. With Capital Radio colleague David Briggs, he helped devise a quiz called Double or Quits. Briggs then left Capital but kept trying to get a version of Double or Quits made for television, and asked Tarrant if he would consider presenting it. With the help of Steve Knight and Mike Whitehill, Double or Quits was refined and renamed Cash Mountain, then re-renamed Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?

'I must admit I said, "That title will never work,"' Tarrant recalls. 'But I loved the format.' As do audiences in America, where ABC's Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? has proved a huge hit, and host Regis Philbin has adopted many of Tarrant's catchphrases. Tarrant is duly flattered. 'He asked if I minded. In fact, for an American game show host, Regis is a very polite, humble sort of guy.'

Humility is not a word one would readily associate with Tarrant, but then, as Britain's highest-paid TV personality, he has plenty to be not-so-humble about. And it is difficult to picture anyone else, even Des Lynam, at the helm of Millionaire. 'I can't imagine what I will do after such a unique show,' adds Tarrant. 'I find it very hard to see myself sitting in some producer's office in three years time saying, "I've got this game show idea ..."'

I can see a challenging quiz show ...

Paul Ross is the first to admit that he has always considered clairvoyance, palmistry, astrology and the like to be nonsense. But he was happy enough to accept the job of presenting Mystic Challenge – in which four so-called mystics pit wits against each other, trying to identify mystery guests. Ross describes it as 'The Price Is Right meets The X-Files' – and since then has had his scepticism bent like a Uri Geller teaspoon.

'One of our mystery guests was Will Mellor from Hollyoaks,' he tells me. 'Now, the producers are absolutely rigorous about keeping the contestants and guests apart. There is no way they could have known it was him. But one of them said, "I see a caravan, and I see the name Emma," whereupon Will went absolutely white, because he used to go on caravan holidays and his first crush, when he was on holiday, aged about eight, was a little girl called Emma.'

With James Hewitt, former lover of Princess Diana, the mystics were even more accurate. 'One of them said he was a man who'd had a blonde lover who died in a car crash,' a deeply impressed Ross tells me. But never mind that. What did he make of Hewitt, reviled by the tabloid press as king of the love rats? 'I must say, I was preparing to hate the guy,' says Ross. 'My brother Jonathan certainly ripped into him on They Think It's All Over. But basically he's Tim Nice-But-Dim. And the women in the audience went absolutely wild for him.'

As for the mystical element, Ross says he is now prepared to accept that some people have the gift of second sight. 'There's one guy called Kevin Wade, who comes from Southend, looks like Uncle Fester, and is right more often than he's wrong. But when they do get it wrong, they are seriously wrong,' he adds. 'We had the gay rights campaigner Peter Tachell on, and one of them said he was on his second marriage, had three children and liked fruit. To his credit, Tachell said, "No, I am a fruit."'

Has he, I wonder, had the experts read his palm or tarot cards? 'No, they've all offered, but I've declined. There are some things about myself that I'd rather not know.'

The four faces of Britney

For those of us who reached the age Britney Spears is now sometime before Britney was born (in December 1981), her rise to superstardom is slightly disconcerting. Britney is still only 18, yet already a showbiz veteran, having joined the cast of Disney's Mickey Mouse Club TV show at the age of 11.

As MTV's Britney Weekend will inform us, she was raised in rural Louisiana, a few miles from the Mississippi state line. Her hometown of Kentwood – population around 2700 – is about as hicksville as small-town America gets. No wonder the folk of Kentwood are excited about Britney (the town's website proudly plays up its link with the pop princess), who was voted Most Beautiful in the Kentwood high school yearbook, although not, interestingly, Most Likely to Succeed.

She has, of course, succeeded beyond the wildest dreams of the most thrustingly ambitious showbiz mum. Britney's big break came when her demo tape was played to an executive at Jive Records, who had the foresight to sign her up, and her first album, Baby One More Time, soared to the top of the charts. Since then, records (the musical sort) have sold in their millions, while records (the statistical sort) have tumbled. She is the youngest artist ever to have a single and album simultaneously at number one. She played over 50 sell-out concerts in the summer of 1999 alone.

And yet her career has already spawned controversy, for a sexy photoshoot in Rolling Stone magazine attracted the ire of the conservative American Family Association. Sales duly went through the roof.

Britney Weekend, MTV, from Saturday 7th

BUFFY: a new Dawn

Buffy will be back in the New Year demolishing demons and vanquishing vampires, but who's the new kid on the block?

THERE'S a major surprise in store when Buffy the Vampire Slayer springs back onto Sky One next year – Buffy Summers, previously thought to be the only child from the failed marriage of Joyce and Hank Summers, has a little sister, Dawn!

From the start of the series back in 1997, series creator and executive producer Joss Whedon has always battled to keep the audience on the edge of its seat, and makes sure that no one – not even the cast members – knows exactly what's coming next. There's been no indication before that Buffy has a younger sister, particularly one with a gift for channelling demons and other evil beings.

Dawn will be played by Michelle Trachtenberg (pictured), who previously appeared in the movies Harriet the Spy and Inspector Gadget, and worked with Buffy herself, Sarah Michelle Gellar, on the American soap All My Children.

'She was like my big sister,' Trachtenberg says of that time, but is very coy about revealing anything of the new relationship, either on or off-screen. 'You'll have to watch to find out!'

Whedon explains: 'I wanted to bring on somebody at a different stage of life, going through that younger adolescent pain. Sarah said that I should [let] Michelle read for Dawn. We already had our eye on another actress, but when Michelle read, it was clear she was the one.'

He has also reacted sharply to claims that the WB Television Network might have requested a younger addition to the cast. As he points out: 'The WB certainly didn't say, "Can you add a moppet?" Dawn is not there to be cute and cuddly.'

Trachtenberg admits: 'I've heard that Dawn has a crush on Xander [played by Nicholas Brendon],' which might not be the brightest of moves, given that Xander's girlfriend, Anya (Emma Caulfield), is a former vengeance demon, who hates anyone messing around with 'her guy'.

The new season, which has just started filming, will see other changes as well – Buffy's mother, Joyce, will be featured more regularly, as the actress Kristine Sutherland, who's played her for the past four years, returns from a year away. 'I'm hoping that Joss may have a reconnecting between Joyce and Buffy in mind for this season,' she told Cable Guide recently. 'I'm looking forward to it.'

Slayer belle: Sarah Michelle Gellar will return as Buffy, this time accompanied by her demon-hunter sister, Dawn.

But Buffy's boyfriend Riley Finn, played by Marc Blucas, might not be staying. Reports circulating in America indicate that Blucas may only be appearing in the first half of the season.

Again, it will be all change for Buffy and the rest of the gang as the demons and vampires mass to make their second year of college a living hell.

As anticipation of Dream Team's new season reaches fever pitch, Jane Oddy finds out how actor Ed Sanders, aka Eddie Moliano, made the transition from tool kits to football kits.

A dream come true

EVEN if the thought of footie leaves you cold, there is something for everyone in Sky One's cult soccer drama Dream Team.

The thrills and spills on and off the pitch have turned the series into one of the channel's flagship shows, and it promises to get bigger and better when the new 26-part series kicks off this month.

'I never dreamed my life could be as good as this. It's something I didn't expect'

The show ended on a cliffhanger last series with Didier Baptiste (Tom Redhill) poised to take a last-minute penalty shot, which would decide if Harchester United would retain their Premiership status or be relegated to the first division.

The lads from Harchester have broad appeal, not least the team's rock-like Cockney-Italian midfielder, Eddie Moliano, played by Ed Sanders. The 25-year-old Londoner, a six-foot former model, has proved himself an extremely popular cast member, receiving countless proposals from his female fans. 'I'm so flattered,' he smiles. 'I never dreamed my life could be as good as this. It's something I didn't expect.'

The meteoric success he's enjoyed in the last couple of years could have turned many young stars into ego maniacs, but thankfully it has left Ed untouched.

A few years ago he was working in a builder's yard as a chippy, but gave it up and eventually pursued a career in television after being spotted by a model scout. 'I always enjoyed drama and thought it could be a good life, but drama was never an option [at] high school, and I decided to be a carpenter.

'But after a few years of working I'd find myself in tears on a Monday morning, thinking, "Why am I doing this?"'

Ed took a year off from building but made little money, working in bars to supplement his income: 'I wasn't trained, so when stuff went wrong I turned to my close friends and family.'

Steely determination spurred him on, and after a brief stint as a model he eventually landed his first TV job, on the travel game show Flying Start. His weeks are now spent filming at Millwall's ground, the Den, for Dream Team and presenting the ITV late-night student dating show Dial a Date.

Even he admits frankly that he is amazed at how his gamble paid off. But the price is working flat out – six days a week – as well as putting time into Spunge, the TV production company he recently set up with several others.

He has poured some of his earnings into a stunning top-floor flat in Streatham Common, south west London. He used to live in a flat with a group of male friends, projecting a single-man-about-town image and declaring he was too focused on work for a love life.

Ed comes clean, however, and tells me that he is actually engaged – and the nuptials are next month in America. The lucky woman is a 28-year-old make-up artist, Gioia Gagliano, an Italian-American he met three years ago on a holiday in Miami. Isn't he quite young to be settling down? He shakes his head: 'If you meet someone you want to be with, you want to be with them. I know she's the one.'

In between trips to Miami and planning his wedding, Ed has thrown himself into the new series of Dream Team and admits he is much fitter, thanks to intensive weekly sessions to make his on-screen soccer skills look more authentic.

Although he insists he is an armchair football fan – he supports Arsenal and Wimbledon – Ed's impressive six-pack shows he is no slouch. Even so, he acknowledges he was physically unprepared for the role: 'I never used to run or go to the gym – I'd be out with the lads and have a few jars. But I do exercise now. In the first week of training I was dreadful – I nearly collapsed.'

Ed says he is clueless about what's in store in the new series, as storylines are kept strictly under wraps, but he has been told there will be a new romance for him. 'My agent asked if it was possible to have more storylines because I was enjoying it so much,' he says. 'We all get on brilliantly on the show – everyone is such a laugh.'

Ed also claims to recognise similarities in personality between him and his character: 'Eddie is so easy to play because he's just like me, except a lot louder. But I don't think I'm as arrogant or as sexist as he is and I'd like to think I'm brighter than him!'

The fact that he has the same first name as his screen character put him in an embarrassing position recently: 'The first time I was recognised in the street from Dream Team, someone shouted out, "Eddie!" I thought it was someone I knew and went over and had a chat with him as if he was a mate.

'He was looking at me strange. It was only when I was walking off I realised I'd never met him before in my life!'

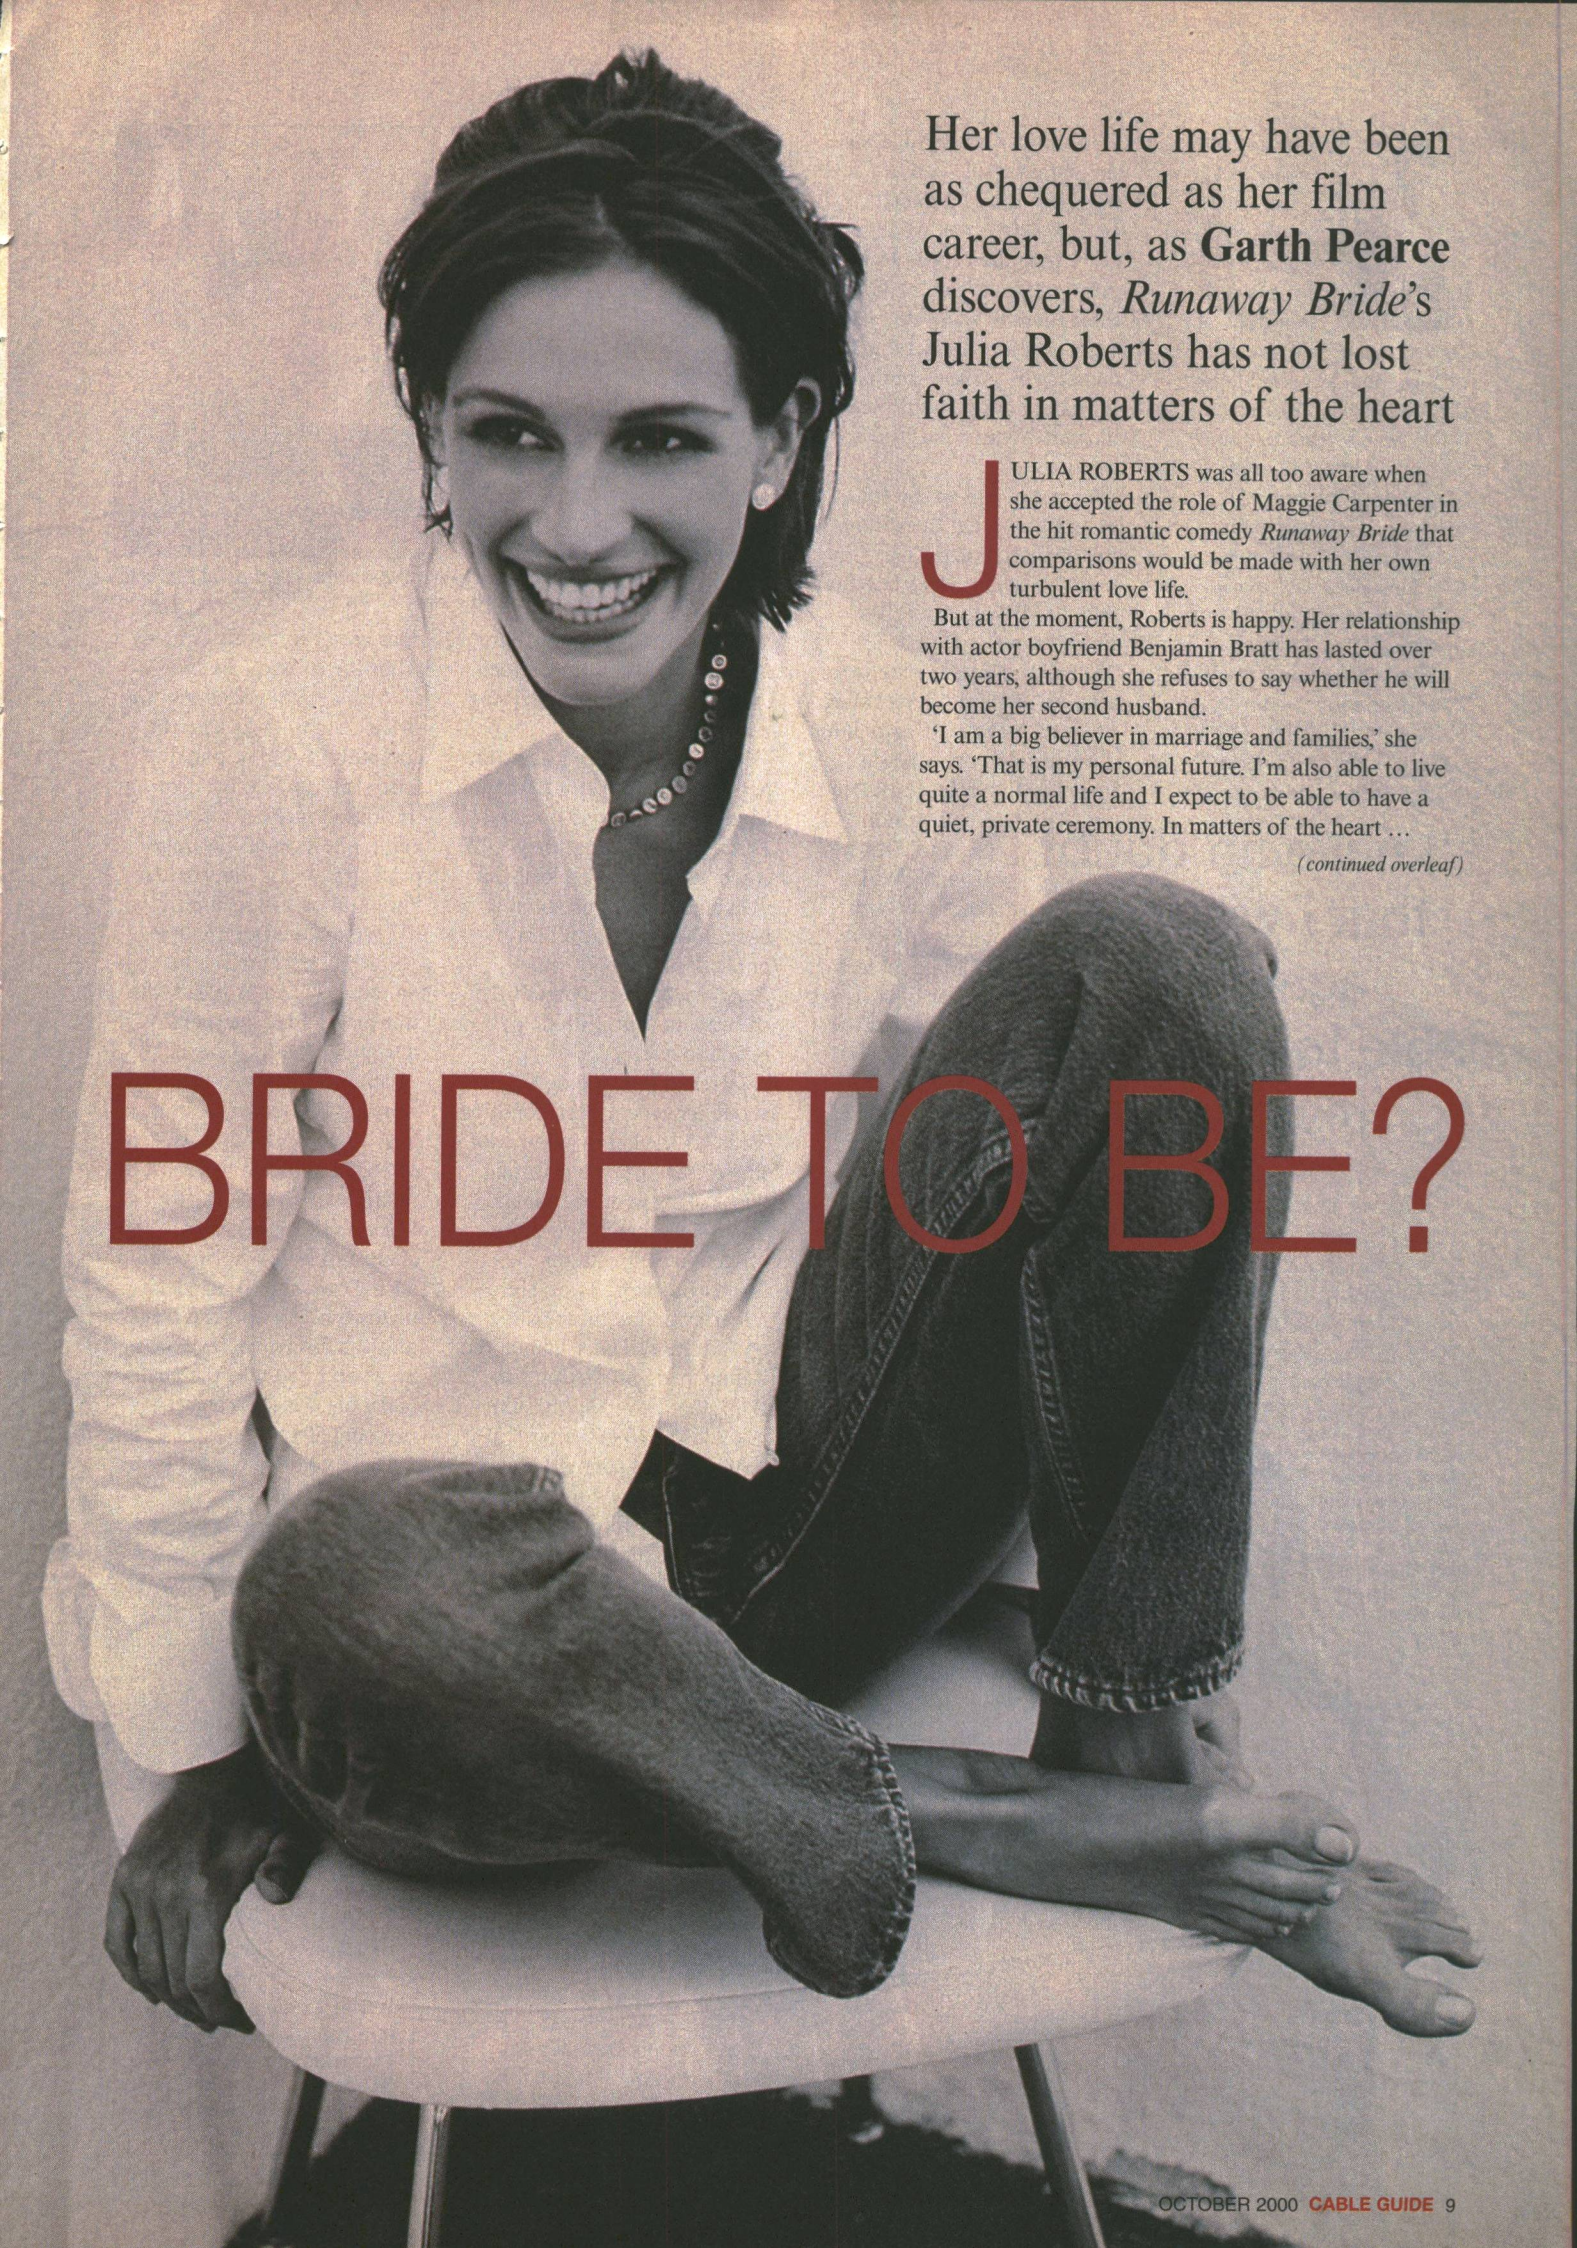
THE BIG NUMBER CHANGES



BRIDE TO BE?

Her love life may have been as chequered as her film career, but, as Garth Pearce discovers, Runaway Bride's Julia Roberts has not lost faith in matters of the heart

JULIA ROBERTS was all too aware when she accepted the role of Maggie Carpenter in the hit romantic comedy Runaway Bride that comparisons would be made with her own turbulent love life.

But at the moment, Roberts is happy. Her relationship with actor boyfriend Benjamin Bratt has lasted over two years, although she refuses to say whether he will become her second husband.

'I am a big believer in marriage and families,' she says. 'That is my personal future. I'm also able to live quite a normal life and I expect to be able to have a quiet, private ceremony. In matters of the heart …

… anything is possible. What you do for a living isn't important. It's the kind of person you are. If a man is good, kind and loving, then that is what matters.

'I've been fortunate to meet a few men like that in my life. Contrary to impressions, I am able to allow relationships to grow, without interference. So I have no doubt that I will marry again and be able to do things my own way.'

Roberts is certainly more confident about that now than she was back in 1991 when she cancelled her wedding to Kiefer Sutherland at the last minute. She eventually married country singer Lyle Lovett in 1993. The marriage lasted only 21 months. Her name has since been linked with a number of actors, including Liam Neeson, Jason Patric and Matthew Perry.

'I have no doubt that I will marry again and be able to do things my own way'

No wonder critics suggested she shared traits with her Runaway Bride character, Maggie Carpenter, who panics every time she's about to walk down the aisle. Having failed three times to say 'I do', her story appears in USA Today courtesy of cynical columnist Ike Graham (Richard Gere). He swiftly turns her into a national joke.

She complains to the editor, pointing out that the story is full of inaccuracies. The result? Graham seeks her out and, needless to say, falls in love with her.

The film, released nine years after Gere and Roberts teamed up to turn Pretty Woman into a worldwide smash, was a huge hit. It can be considered a companion piece to Pretty Woman. While there has been much talk of a sequel to the earlier film, it was decided that the Runaway Bride script had the advantage of a new character for Roberts, while still providing romantic possibilities with Gere.

'Richard sent me the script while I was working on Notting Hill,' explains Roberts. 'At the time, I really couldn't make up my mind whether it was funny or not. I had been surrounded by English humour, which was very different.'

Roberts decided to go ahead, persuaded by director Garry Marshall – who also directed Pretty Woman – that they could work their magic again.

Given Roberts's personal background, it was a film publicist's dream. 'I know Runaway Bride is a great title,' she admits, 'but it does not attach to my life.'

She remains unapologetic about her personal relationships. 'Before, I would be embarrassed when having to explain certain things in my past,' she admits. 'But I don't do that any more.

'I get on well with my former husband, Lyle. The relationship taught me a lot and I refuse to be ashamed that it didn't work. Who am I to think that I'm so special I'm not allowed to make mistakes?'

Some would contend that she has made the odd mistake in her choice of films, particularly so with her mid-Nineties output – the well-meaning but bland comedy-drama Something to Talk About, Mary Reilly (a rather dour spin on the Jekyll and Hyde story), and supporting roles in the biopic Michael Collins and Woody Allen's offbeat musical Everyone Says I Love You.

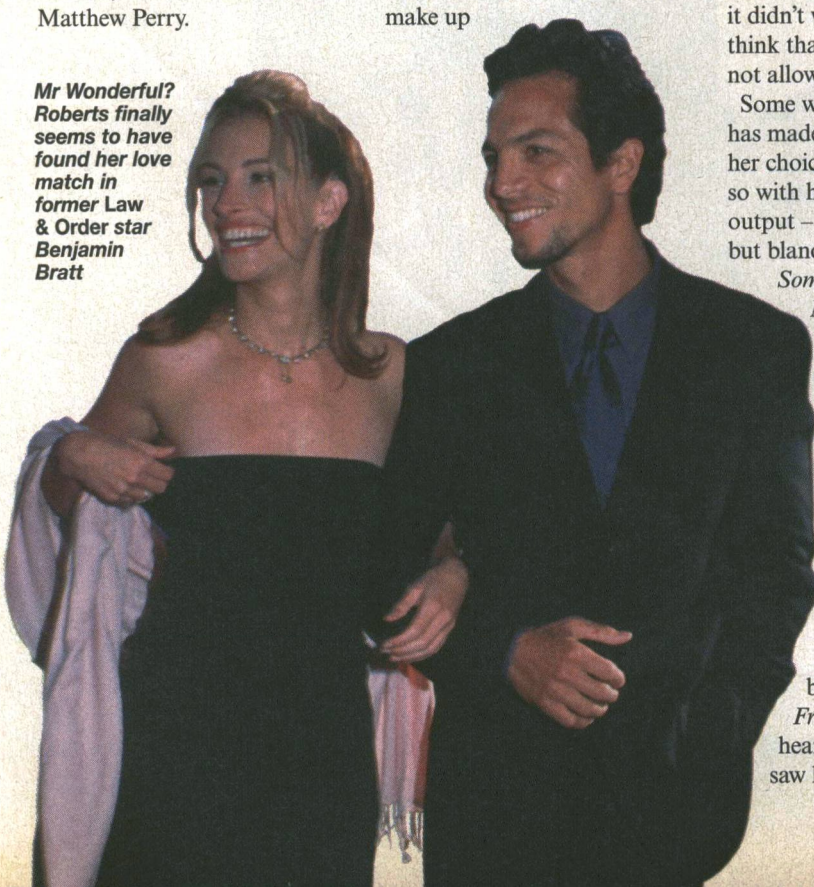
But in 1997 her career received a much-needed boost with My Best Friend's Wedding, the heart-warming hit that saw her doing what she does best – romantic comedy. After the subsequent success of Notting Hill and Runaway Bride, Roberts was able to command $20m to play the feisty lead in Erin Brockovich.

'It doesn't make me a better actor,' she says of her huge price tag. 'I can still work as hard and be just as happy as if I was paid a nominal fee.'

Now back where she belongs on the Hollywood A-list, the star insists that she remains resolutely down to earth.

'I am lucky enough to be a working film actor and I don't have to go [to Hollywood] too often. I choose to live most of the time in New York, which I like. It also gives me a chance to lead a normal life. I do my own shopping, clean my own house and can travel on the subway when I choose. So when I do make the next really big decisions about my personal life, no one will know.

'There will be no need to run away. Trust me.'



Mr Wonderful? Roberts finally seems to have found her love match in former* Law & Order *star Benjamin Bratt

The old chemistry is still there:* Pretty Woman co-stars Julia Roberts and Richard Gere reunite for Runaway Bride.

To find out exactly what happens on a race weekend in Formula One, the most glamorous of sports, Brian Viner went behind the scenes at Hockenheim. It's been a closely fought and thrilling season but there are two races to go ...

A WINNING

ON A RAINY Saturday morning in Germany, in an extraordinary mobile television studio on stilts, all eyes, not to mention a whopping camera, are on me. This is rather unexpected. I have come strictly as a behind-the-scenes observer of ITV's excellent Formula One coverage, but it is rehearsal time and, so that camera angles and volume levels can be checked, I am invited to sit in for former motor racing driver Gerhard Berger. Presenter Jim Rosenthal turns to me, 'So, Gerhard, where do you stand on the Michael Schumacher debate?' I adopt my best Austrian accent. 'Never mind ze debate, I would like to stand on Schumacher himself,' I say. Gratifyingly, Rosenthal roars with laughter. But just as I am beginning to enjoy this punditry lark, reality intervenes. Keith MacKenzie, director of Grand Prix coverage, declares the rehearsal over and begins the countdown to the afternoon's live coverage of the German Grand Prix qualifying session.

'It has been a steep learning curve ... I hadn't exactly been reading Autosport for 30 years'

An hour or so later, I stand in Hockenheim's cramped commentary box watching the legendary Murray Walker drop his trousers. Again, this is an unexpected turn of events. But Walker, it transpires, has a pre-race routine as strictly observed as that of any driver. First, he makes sure that his shirt is comfortably tucked in. Then he embarks on a frankly eccentric series of exercises. Later though, I begin to understand why he needs to warm up, physically as well as mentally. Commentating for up to two hours on the fastest-moving sport of all, and standing up all the while, would be gruelling for anybody, let alone a septuagenarian. Walker celebrates his 77th birthday this month.

Alongside Walker is the Laurel to his Hardy, the Crosse to his Blackwell – Martin Brundle. It is fascinating to watch them in tandem, Brundle placing a hand on Walker's shoulder whenever he wishes to make an observation. Theirs is a double act forged in palpable mutual admiration – indeed, it is clear that the entire team gets on remarkably well. And MacKenzie pays particular tribute to Jim Rosenthal, not only the most professional of presenters, he says, but also the nicest. Rosenthal himself tells me that his first Grand Prix, at Melbourne in 1997, remains the only broadcast that has ever caused him to lose sleep the night before. He had learnt barely a month earlier that he was to become the face of Formula One, following the sport's 1997 switch to ITV. 'It has been a steep learning curve ... I hadn't exactly been reading Autosport for 30 years,' he confides.

At Hockenheim there are 35 people representing ITV Sport, from editor Gerard Lane down. Lane, like many of the team, is a former BBC man. Indeed, in many respects the switch to ITV resembled a pit stop; with so many experienced hands contributing, Formula One coverage emerged looking as slick as ever.

Above: a triumphant German Grand Prix win for Rubens Barrichello and Ferrari

However, Lane and MacKenzie must now contend with commercial breaks. There are five during a race – each of precisely two minutes, ten seconds – and they must be spaced as evenly as possible. I ask Lane the obvious question. Has a commercial break ever come at the wrong moment? 'I'm afraid so,' he says. 'For instance, Damon Hill passing Schumacher [in 1997] in Hungary.' The recollection seems to make him wince slightly.

The following morning, Lane picks up the phone in the ITV truck. The caller is in Cape Town, South Africa, and has somehow managed to get through to the very nerve centre of the ITV operation. He wants to remind Murray Walker that the great Jim Clark died in a crash at Hockenheim in 1968. Lane, distractedly, promises to pass the message on. He has other things on his mind, as a process that began the preceding Monday, with the arrival of the truck, approaches its climax. 'Sensation here at Hockenheim! Michael Schumacher is disqualified before the race has even started following the intervention of ITV's own Murray Walker,' shrieks ITV's man in the pits, James Allen. He is, of course, larking around, moments before transmission gets under way. But the actual race proves to be even more sensational, with Schumacher crashing on the first bend, several torrential downpours, and an evidently deranged spectator meandering across the track, all capped off by an emotional victory for Ferrari's Rubens Barrichello.

I watch the unfolding drama in the control room, where Keith MacKenzie takes it all in his stride. He has been covering Grands Prix since 1987, so nothing much fazes him. I, by contrast, am agog. But afterwards there is little time to sit and reflect on a remarkable Grand Prix. In fact, no sooner has Rosenthal bid viewers farewell, than the mobile studio is dismantled so that it can be driven to Stockholm for an athletics meeting. The Formula One roadshow, meanwhile, moves on to Hungary. Sadly, there is no room for a top Gerhard Berger impressionist.

FIA FORMULA 1 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

On Saturday 21st, the eve of the last Grand Prix of the 2000 season, ITV2 dedicates a night of programmes to the world of Formula One, live from the Sepang circuit in Malaysia. There will be a tribute to veteran commentator Murray Walker, plus a look at this year's nail-biting season. Will there be a final showdown between Mika Hakkinen and Michael Schumacher? James Allen and Louise Goodman will also go behind the scenes and highlight some of the biggest characters in Formula One's history.

ONE MORE CUNNING PLAN

Fans of the brilliant comic creation Blackadder can get ready for a treat, writes Jane Oddy, as Blackadder Back and Forth – a wild, era-straddling escapade commissioned especially for the Millennium celebrations – makes its TV debut

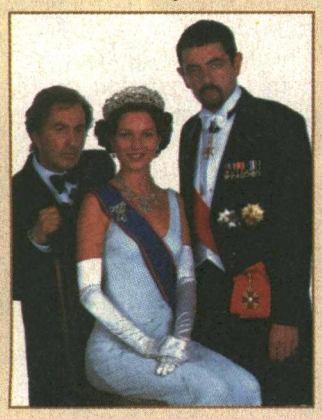
THE £3m production Blackadder Back and Forth has been greeted with rave reviews at the Millennium Dome, where it has been screening exclusively since January. The one-off feature – a hilarious time-travel adventure – appears on television, for the first time in the UK, this month.

Blackadder Back and Forth follows Rowan Atkinson's anti-hero, and his cast of usual suspects, for a riotous trip through history. The opening scene is Lord Blackadder's 1999 New Year's Eve dinner party, and among the assembled guests there are many familar faces from the classic long-running series.

Baldrick (Tony Robinson) has hit upon a cunning plan to help his master win money from his gullible friends. Blackadder wheels out Baldrick's time machine, made from empty Weetabix packets, and places bets that the pair can travel through time and bring back historical artefacts (items already in Blackadder's cellar!) to prove it.

To the pair's disbelief, the temperamental time machine works and Blackadder and Baldrick are dragged back over 1000 years of British history, first to the Jurassic period, then forth to Roman times. Then it's off to the Elizabethan era, where they meet William Shakespeare (Colin Firth), and then the dynamic duo come across Rik Mayall as Robin Hood and Kate Moss as Maid Marian (Moss later appears in surprise guise, below). The twosome cause havoc at the Battle of Waterloo before retreating to the 20th century, and only then realise that they have entirely changed the course of history.

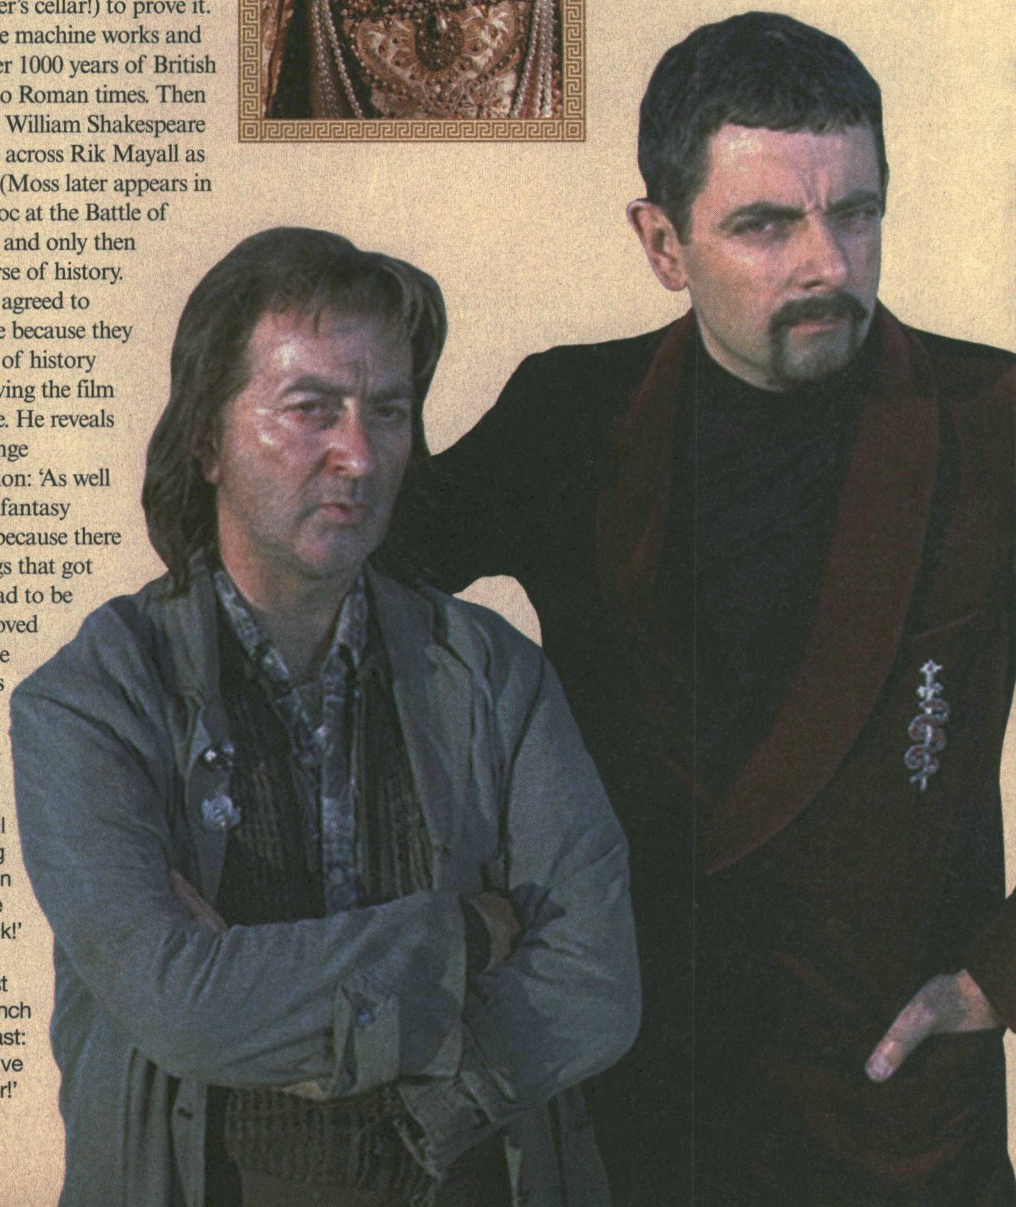
Ben Elton said that the cast and writers only agreed to reunite ten years after the final series was made because they could become part of history themselves – by having the film shown at the Dome. He reveals that it was a challenge condensing the action: 'As well as being fun it was fantasy frustration for me because there were so many things that got written and then had to be cut. I would have loved to do a series on the whole of history, as every period fascinates me.'

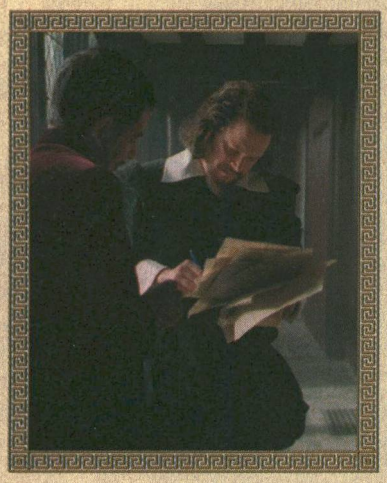


LORD EDMUND BLACKADDER
Rowan Atkinson reprises his role as the spiteful and cruel Lord of the Manor. He says: 'Bringing Blackadder back to the screen has always been an ambition, but I was extremely worried at the prospect of travelling through time with Baldrick!'

BALDRICK (Tony Robinson) makes his first appearance in the film naked, apart from a French maid's apron. He loved being back with the cast: 'The funny thing,' says Tony, 'is that while they've all aged badly, I don't seem to look a day older!'

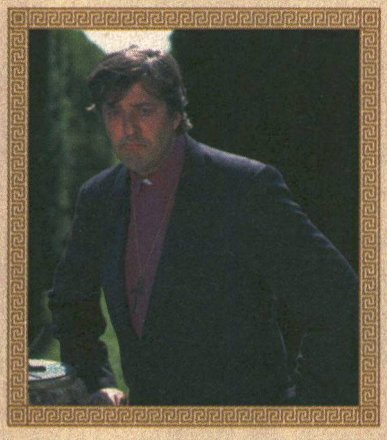
LADY ELIZABETH
Miranda Richardson plays psychotic Queenie, and when Blackadder finds himself in her court again, with grinning Nursie (Patsy Byrne) by her side, she tells him how old and ugly he looks: 'You're wearing very weird clothes!' Then she asks still pandering Melchett: 'Shall I laugh at him, or cut his head off?' Decapitation looms until she is pacified with some mints.



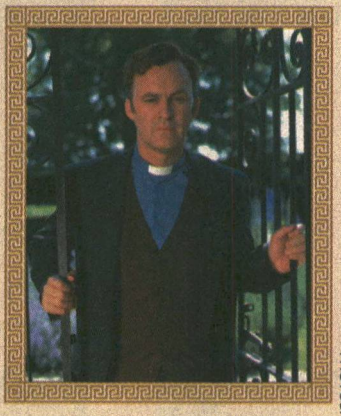


WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE
Colin Firth is the Bard who Blackadder bumps into as he beats a hasty retreat from Queenie's court. He gets a signed autograph from him, and then punches him: 'On behalf of every schoolboy and schoolgirl for the next 400 years and for making me sit through Ken Branagh's endless uncut, four-hour version of Hamlet.'

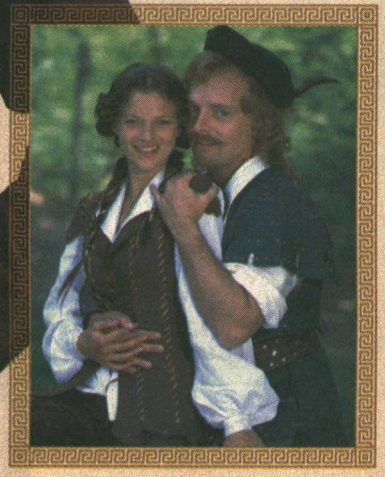
VISCOUNT GEORGE BUFTON-TUFTON
Hugh Laurie is still dim George, who seems to have fewer brain cells than ever. When Blackadder and Baldrick get stuck among the few remaining Romans from Hadrian's Army, 'Gorgeous' Georgeius fails to realise that a band of marauding Scots are heading towards them: 'That's a large orange hedge!' he says.



ARCHBISHOP MELCHETT
(Stephen Fry) is still barking mad, vain and camp as ever. When he first sees Baldrick's time machine at Blackadder Hall he exclaims: 'Well, glaze my nipples and call me Rita!' He makes a cameo as the Duke of Wellington when Baldrick and Blackadder find themselves on the battlefields at Waterloo, and brags about his leadership prowess.



ARCHBISHOP DARLING
(Tim McInnerny) is the toadying foil to Melchett, but Blackadder is still getting the better of him, whichever century they are in. He laments that Blackadder made him donate a kidney: 'Then he told me it was an April Fool's Day joke and we had to throw my kidney away!' he moans.



ROBIN HOOD
Rik Mayall has sexy supermodel Kate Moss as his MAID MARIAN in Sherwood Forest. 'I love giving it to the poor!' he roars. 'Woof!' But after Blackadder manages to turn all his followers against Robin, he can be seen sneaking off into the bushes with the lovely Marian muttering: 'Ding dong!'

THE ENTERTAINER

HE IS A best-selling novelist, he's written hit TV sitcoms and plays, he has acted and is a popular stand-up comic – hard-working and successful, Ben Elton is a true all-rounder.

Probably his most famous scriptwriting success has been Blackadder, which he co-wrote in the Eighties with Four Weddings and a Funeral creator Richard Curtis.

The series didn't make the two writers their fortune, while the BBC profited by millions of pounds from video sales. Elton shrugs, 'Everyone thinks I made a fortune but I didn't, because the deal was done under the old BBC rules. I got £50,000, which to anyone out of work is an enormous amount of money, but it's not millions. It made me feel a bit grumpy!'

Elton admits he has tried pretty much everything in his career, recently adding the role of lyricist in his latest collaboration – his most unlikely yet. On the surface, Sir Andrew Lloyd Webber, a Tory peer, and Ben Elton, a left-wing comic, couldn't be more different. But they became best buddies while co-writing a new West End musical about soccer, which opened last month.

The two men had known each other socially on the party circuit for years before they started talking about working together: Elton says: 'We have a good time, we have a laugh.'

Their production, The Beautiful Game, is a love story centred on a football team – the backdrop is the Troubles in Belfast in the Sixties. 'It's about young people on the threshold of life with all the hopes and enthusiasms, and football is the metaphor for enthusiasm, passion. I'm not passionate about football but I'm passionate about a lot of things and I can write about it.'

If Elton fancies having a go at something, he tries it, and usually

'It was incredible that someone trusted me with £3m of their money, so I didn't expect to make any …'

with unqualified success. Earlier this year he made his debut as a film director with the hit movie Maybe Baby. He was particularly committed to it – so much so that he waived his own payment and worked for 18 months for nothing. He isn't complaining: 'It was incredible that someone trusted me with £3m of their money, so I didn't expect to make any. I have plenty of other sources of income with my novels and plays.'

He was able to draw on his own experience for the movie, as his Australian wife Sophie gave birth to their twins during the filming of the romantic comedy, which focuses on a couple's struggle to conceive. Like the on-screen couple Sam (Hugh Laurie) and Lucy (Joely Richardson), Ben and Sophie endured gruelling fertility treatment before she finally got pregnant.

After a fairly traumatic birth – the twins were two months' premature – Lottie and Bert are now 12 months old and giving their doting parents sleepless nights.

But Elton admits that he is totally besotted with the twins: 'We think they're lovely. Being a dad gets better and better. It's the best job I've ever done.'

The bigger the better

KIM NEWMAN ON ... SOUTH PARK

The musical mastery and spot-on parody of South Park's big-screen debut has made it something of a classic. And the more you watch it, the better it gets

WHAT is the biggest Oscar night travesty? Citizen Kane being shut out of any award that would have Orson Welles alone on the podium? Carol Reed scooping the Best Director gong for Oliver! instead of Stanley Kubrick, who should have won for 2001: A Space Odyssey? Robert Redford and Kevin Costner being honoured with Best Director gongs, but not Alfred Hitchcock or Martin Scorsese? No, it was Phil Collins taking home last year's Best Song statuette, rather than Trey Parker and Marc Shaiman for Blame Canada from South Park: Bigger, Longer & Uncut. And Blame Canada is only one of an entire score of award-worthy numbers from the South Park movie. Let's face it, what we all wanted to hear in the 'and singing the nominated songs' section of the ceremony was Celine Dion's rendition of It's Easy, Mmmkay.

The South Park TV series began as a Christmas video card, using the crudest animation techniques imaginable to depict a showdown between Jesus and Santa Claus. South Park creators Trey Parker and Matt Stone, who do most of the male characters (except Chef, voiced by soul star Isaac Hayes), continued their strange partnership with an odd little item called Cannibal: The Musical, a bizarre cross-breed of cannibal exploitation flick and Oklahoma!, based on an authentic anecdote from the Old West.

Even before they got round to doing a movie, Parker and Stone had worked an album's worth of musical material (Chef Aid) into the series, but the feature project enabled them to mount the most elaborate, and best, animated musical since Disney's The Jungle Book. Its range of parody is amazing, from the Rodgers and Hammerstein styling of Mountain Town through the merciless trashing of those overwrought Nineties Disney songs in Up There (as sung by a wistful Satan) to pastiches of Les Misérables and West Side Story. Forget The Lion King, this is the show we need to see in the West End!

Most TV-to-film adaptations (we mean you, The Addams Family and Lost in Space) fall down because they just go for bigger, and forget the importance of longer and uncut. The South Park film crams in lots of plot and pulls back from the show's small-town setting to take in an entire cosmology. When grade-school kids Kyle, Cartman, Stan and Kenny sneak in to see a film starring outrageous Canadian comics Terrance and Phillip, their vocabulary expands shockingly. Kyle's mother organises a mass protest movement that leads to war between the States and its northern neighbour. Meanwhile, after being killed (with no help at all from special guest medic George Clooney), Kenny ends up in hell where Satan and Saddam Hussein are having a troubled love affair. Ultimately, T and P are executed at a forces show after a gloriously camp number from Big Gay Al.

Like all the best cartoon features, the South Park movie is worth watching again for the gags you missed the first time. The cleverest stroke is to make it an attack on the forces of censorship and parental disapproval. Those who think everything in America will suddenly be idyllic if only people stop swearing on TV were never going to like the film anyway, and now look like total twits if they imitate the crusade of Kyle's mum. Not for all tastes, but converts to the series will love it.

KATE O'MARA

What's your favourite film?
The Draughtsman's Contract. I loved the music by Michael Nyman for a start and I loved it pictorially. It was all set in the 17th century, which I happen to adore. It made you think the whole time.

Who's your favourite movie actor?
It has to be Robert Redford. I suppose I fell in love with him in Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid. I thought it was the most beautiful thing I'd ever seen. He's a fine actor. He's not one of your huge blast 'em type actors but I like the way the Americans can do that sort of very quiet, controlled sort of acting.

What's your favourite movie quote?
I suppose it's got to be Scarlett O'Hara in Gone with the Wind when she says, 'I'll think about that tomorrow.' I'm always saying that. To me it's sort of an optimistic thing – that tomorrow will somehow bring the answers.

Of your own movies, which is your favourite?
It has to be Great Catherine. It was my first big break. I was only about 26 at the time. It's set in Russia all around Catherine the Great. There were huge sets and thousands of extras. I had a wonderful part, the script was adapted from the play by Bernard Shaw and Peter O'Toole was the star and, of course, he was one of the top actors of the time. For a young actress it was a dream come true.

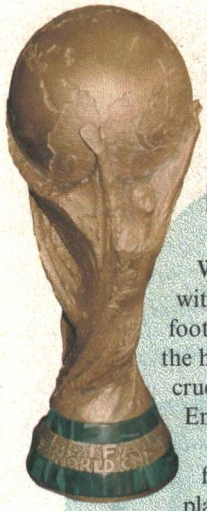
Auf Wiedersehen!



England will bid farewell to Wembley Stadium after their opening World Cup qualifying match against Germany. Preview by Neil Martin

WEMBLEY will go out with a bang when the last football match is played at the historic stadium – the crucial clash between England and Germany.

In 1966, the most famous match ever to be played beneath the Twin Towers saw England beat West Germany and win the World Cup, but 34 years on it is qualification for the 2002 tournament that is at stake.

Although the two nations are fierce rivals both on and off the pitch, they have never faced each other in competition to qualify for any tournament – until now.

Kevin Keegan's side may have the psychological upper hand, having beaten Germany in Euro 2000, but both teams were ultimately labelled failures for missing out on the quarter-finals.

Rudi Völler, the former international striker who is now caretaker manager of the German side, admits that the results in the summer were not good enough, but believes they will bounce back at Wembley. And he will have been encouraged by their 2-0 victory over Greece in their opening World Cup qualifying campaign match last month.

'I agree that the German national team is there to be questioned. But they have every chance of reaching the 2002 World Cup finals,' he insists.

'That is our priority. I want to bring a feeling to everyone in Germany that we are once again a force to be reckoned with.'

German legend Franz Beckenbauer is also looking forward to the encounter with some belief. 'Games against England are tremendous attractions, and the whole of Germany will be sitting in front of the television,' he says.

'... the message I have sent out to the players after Euro 2000 is that I still believe in them'

FA Cup final

Bolton beat West Ham 2-0 in the first FA Cup final played at Wembley, but it was thanks in part to PC George Scorey and his white horse, Billie (pictured), who famously pulled back the crowd, that the game went ahead.

FA Cup final

The famous right-winger Stanley Matthews (pictured) so inspired his beloved Blackpool to a thrilling 4-3 FA Cup final victory over Bolton that it was nicknamed 'the Matthews final'.

England had always believed they were the best team in the world until Hungary – led by Ferenc Puskas (pictured), who was known as 'the Galloping Major' – humiliated the national side 6-3 and inflicted their first defeat by an overseas team at Wembley.

ENGLAND V GERMANY
SKY SPORTS 2 SATURDAY 7TH 2.00PM – LIVE

Mehmet Scholl (above) of Germany and England's Paul Scholes (left) will battle for midfield supremacy

'It's a tough qualifying game, but we shouldn't cry over it. Nothing is easy these days, and if we play well we can win.'

However, England have received a boost with the views of former Tottenham striker Jürgen Klinsmann, who is worried that Germany still have major deficiencies going into the World Cup qualifier.

'We do have problems on a certain technical and creative level. That is something we have to work on from the very bottom with the youngest kids,' he admits.

'The English already have a couple of younger players on the international level. That is the difference. We don't have them right now, and we will have to work on that.

He adds: 'It is always a very tense competition between these two nations, but the priority is for Germany to qualify for the 2002 World Cup, because any major football nation cannot afford not to be at such a competition.'

That analysis also applies to England, and, although Kevin Keegan is confident that his side can again beat the old enemy, he knows that he must deliver his promises out on the famous hallowed turf.

'I believe we can beat Germany, but talk is cheap,' he says. 'We've got to go out there and perform, because the only thing certain about the Germans is that they'll be up for it.

'We will have to play well because they always do. They have won the World Cup three times, and only Brazil have won it more often,' he adds.

'I know a lot of their players, and I spent three fantastic years in Germany with Hamburg. I have a lot of friends over there, but they will be the enemy for this game.

'The challenge that I have set for my team is to perform to the best of our ability, because if we do that we're a match for anybody.'

Keegan conludes: 'I want us to go to the World Cup in 2002. We've got a tough qualifying group, but the message I have sent out to the players after Euro 2000 is that I still believe in them.'

That belief has been manifested with experienced players such as David Seaman, Martin Keown, Dennis Wise and Tony Adams not being cast aside in favour of young blood. And although Alan Shearer – the goal-scoring hero against Germany in Euro 2000 – has now retired from international football, Michael Owen proved his striking capability by scoring England's equaliser in the 1-1 draw with France in September.

Meanwhile, Germany have already been rocked by the news that they will have to be without key midfielder Jens Jeremies for the big clash. The 26-year-old Bayern Munich star suffered knee ligament damage in training back in August and will not be fit to face England.

Experienced Stefan Effenberg is also ruled out, having undergone an operation on his Achilles tendon which could ultimately bring his international career to an end.

However, the actual line-ups are probably unimportant, with the victors most likely to be the side that displays the most passion, spirit and desire on the day. And what a day it promises to be.

30 July 1966
England v West Germany
World Cup final
English football's finest hour. The inventors of the game finally won the World Cup in a thrilling 4-2 victory over West Germany, with striker Geoff Hurst (pictured) scoring a hat trick – a feat yet to be matched.

29 May 1968
Manchester United v Benfica
European Cup final
Manchester United became the first English side to win the European Cup by beating Eusebio's Benfica 4-1. It was just reward for manager Matt Busby and the legendary trio of George Best (pictured), Denis Law and Bobby Charlton.

26 June 1996
England v Germany
Euro 96 semi-final
Under manager Terry Venables, England looked like they would reach their first European Championship final. But as in Italia 90, Germany beat them in a penalty shoot-out with Gareth Southgate (pictured) missing the crucial kick.

Red alert

Neil Martin previews the champions' crunch matches with two of their closest title rivals

MANCHESTER UNITED will be hoping to make it a truly red October with two massive Premier League games.

United travel to Highbury to take on Arsenal, while Yorkshire rivals Leeds will be their opponents at Old Trafford later in the month.

The two encounters will provide a clear view of who, if anybody, can challenge Alex Ferguson's side for the league title this season.

Arsenal – their closest rivals last term – finished a huge 18 points behind the champions, while Leeds came third, but never seriously threatened the top spot.

United midfielder Paul Scholes knows how tough the two games will be, and is under no illusions that his team will walk the championship in the way they did last season.

'I would be very surprised if we won it by the same margin again. I don't think anyone will win it by 18 points this season,' he admits.

'As for our main rivals, we always seem to mention a few teams like Chelsea, Liverpool and Leeds before the season starts, but I would have thought Arsenal will be our main threat.'

The Red Devils took four points from Arsenal last season and will be aiming to repeat their psychologically important 2-1 victory at Highbury, which came thanks to two goals from Roy Keane (pictured, left).

However, the Gunners' record at home is very impressive, and that defeat last August is one of only two that Arsène Wenger's team have suffered at Highbury, in the past two seasons.

Arsenal will be without their influential midfielder Patrick Vieira as he completes a five-match ban, but have enough depth with the likes of new signings Robert Pires, Lauren and Sylvain Wiltord to cause United plenty of problems.

Leeds will then be the next big hurdle for Alex Ferguson's men. After a superb win against 1860 Munich, the Yorkshire side are now competing side-by-side with United in the Champions League, but they are still finding their feet in the upper echelons of English football.

Their young and enthusiastic squad has been bolstered by

Those signings have impressed Manchester United defender Jaap Stam, who admits: 'Arsenal and Leeds will both be after us. They are good teams and they have all bought well in the summer.'

However, whether their efforts will be enough to topple United from the Premier League summit remains to be seen – although by the end of October the situation will be a lot clearer.

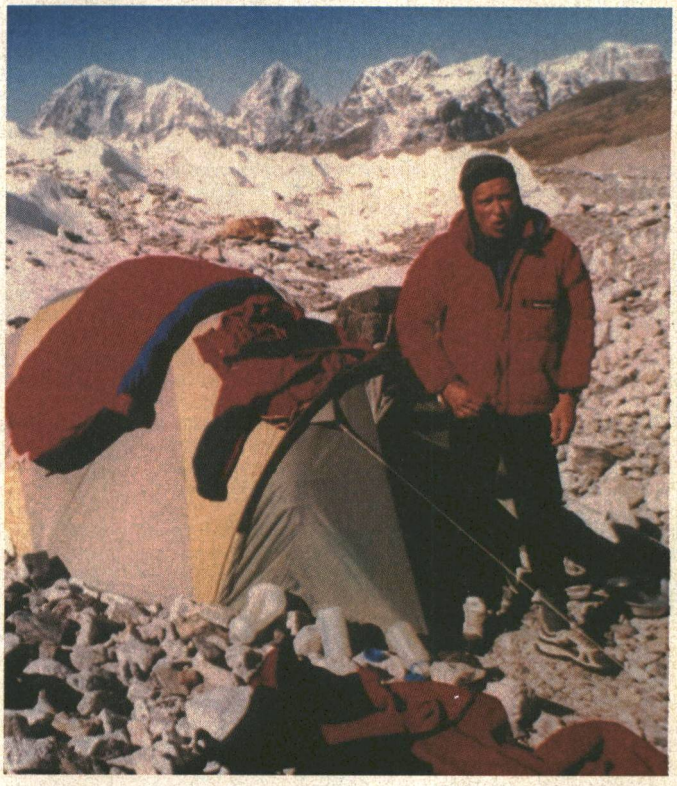
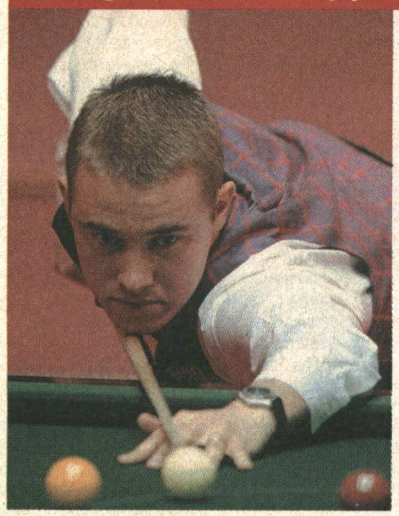
The peak of success



When a climber reaches a height of 26,666ft he enters what's known as the 'death zone', an altitude at which the human body can only survive for a few hours. With that in mind, isn't it sheer lunacy for mountaineer Alan Hinkes to climb to such a height 14 times? The Death Zone: Climbing K2 follows Hinkes as he climbs across Nepal and Pakistan's Himalayan mountain ranges, in a bid to become the first Briton to climb the world's 14 highest peaks. To succeed means to survive one of the toughest tests in high-altitude climbing and defeat the mighty Godwin Austen (K2's unofficial name). Alan's climbing pal, American mother Alison Hargreaves, is just as determined to succeed. Above 15,000ft, the temperature on K2 (so-called to denote it as one of the 35 peaks in the Karakoram range of the Himalayas) rarely climbs above freezing, and permanent snow cover occurs above 16,000ft. As Alan prepares for his mammoth climb, it's hard to imagine the intimidation he feels – K2 has claimed more lives than Everest. At 28,250ft it's the world's second tallest peak and he's already tried to climb it twice before – and failed. Will he make it this time? You'll just have to find out for yourself, but you can be certain that K2 lives up to its deadly reputation. As foul weather and treacherous conditions take hold, a human drama of bravery and tragedy unfolds.

National Geographic Channel, Mondays from 2nd, 10.00pm

Going snooker loopy



Armchair snooker fans are in for a treat with live frame-by-frame coverage of British Open 2000. Snooker's popularity peaked in 1985 when 18.5m viewers watched Dennis Taylor beat Steve Davis 18-17 in the Embassy World final. Since then, football is the only sport to out perform snooker when it comes to viewing figures. And looking at the mounting tension surrounding this year's championships it's easy to see why. Right from the qualifying stages there have been some surprises, as relative unknowns cast veterans Tony Knowles and Neal Foulds aside. The finals will, however, be a showcase of the experienced competitors. All the major names, including defending champion Stephen Hendry (pictured), fellow Scot John Higgins, world champion Mark Williams, plus old-timers such as Steve Davis and Jimmy White, will be in search of glory on the green baize, and the £62,000 prize money. Three-times winner Hendry won the title with ease last season. The Perthshire-born star dominated snooker in the Nineties, as Steve Davis did the decade before, but some critics argue that like Steve, his best days are behind him. However, let's not forget that the 31-year-old is still ranked third in the world, and he could easily reclaim his title.

Sky Sports 2, from Monday 2nd, 2.00pm – LIVE

America is rated X

While it certainly has its flaws, American History X still emerges as a challenging, visually exciting and defiantly disturbing work. No small feat for a film as troubled as this. It should have marked the auspicious feature debut of Briton Tony Kaye, a respected maker of TV commercials, who also doubled up as its cinematographer. Kaye, however, attempted to get his directorial credit removed from the release cut sanctioned by distributor New Line Cinema, and embarked on a public feud both with New Line and the film's star Edward Norton (pictured), who assisted with the re-editing of that version. But despite the subsequent falling out of star and director, the pair managed to do something right on set, as Norton contributes one of the most powerful acting work-outs of recent years. He mesmerizes as the reformed neo-Nazi attempting to prevent his younger brother (Edward Furlong, also excellent) from emulating his old hateful ways. Not since Robert De Niro ripped himself emotionally raw for 1980's Raging Bull has a performance of such searing intensity been committed to celluloid.

LIVE FORD SUPER SUNDAY: ARSENAL V MANCHESTER UNITED SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

It may be early days in the race for the Premier League title, but Arsenal and Manchester United (whose Jaap Stam is pictured, right), will still be the favourites for the title whatever their early season form. This afternoon's game at Highbury won't decide the championship, but the Gunners have enjoyed some notable successes over United in recent seasons and would not mind another. Arsenal's Cameroon international Lauren (pictured, left), could provide the necessary inspiration for his team.

LIVE SNOOKER: BRITISH OPEN
SKY SPORTS 2 2.00PM, 7.00PM

The top names in snooker are at the Plymouth Pavilions for the £440,000 British Open, where world No. 3 Stephen Hendry bids to retain his title. Among those aiming to stop him will be the 26-year-old world champion – the Welshman Mark Williams – and John Higgins (pictured), of Scotland, ranked No. 2. But if he wants to win the £62,000 first prize, Higgins will need to better his performance from last year when he lost 5-1 in the quarter-finals to Ronnie O'Sullivan.

LPGA GOLF: NEW ALBANY GOLF CLASSIC
SKY SPORTS 3 8.00PM

Annika Sörenstam (pictured) will return to the New Albany Country Club to defend the New Albany Golf Classic title which she won in 1999 – the event's inaugural year – with a three-strike victory over Mardi Lunn. Sörenstam had already won five tournaments on the LPGA Tour by the end of July. However, the Stockholm-born 30-year-old will have to be at her very best if she wants to win the top prize of $150,000 as the she will be facing Karrie Webb, the No. 1 player on the Tour.

LOVE STARS BY MARGIE THILLART

OCTOBER BIRTHDAYS
2nd Sting 3rd Neve Campbell
5th Kate Winslet 8th Matt Damon
14th Sir Cliff Richard 27th John Cleese

Sensational ★★★ Stimulating ★★ Satisfactory ★

Aries
21 March-20 April ★★
You'll go from predator to pussycat this month, surprising others with your new-found nonchalance. The truth is you feel the spark is missing from your life, but pride prevents you from revealing this fact to your loved ones.

Taurus
21 April-21 May ★★
You're usually slow to anger, but in contrast will have a hair-trigger temper this month. The Mars/Mercury merger is making it difficult to separate emotion from logic and as a result, relationships could take a battering.

Gemini
22 May-21 June ★★
With your warped sense of humour and childlike approach to life, others have a hard time taking you seriously. However, you can win over friends and enemies alike this month by making your point through actions rather than words.

Cancer
22 June-23 July ★★
Your motives may be above board, but your methods are likely to be underhanded. Yours is a tenacious sign and you often choose to bend the rules rather than surrender. Expect a backlash this month from someone you cross.

Leo
24 July-23 August ★★
Like the lion in his den, you guard your territory jealously and often feel threatened when outsiders intrude. So, you'll be thrown off balance this month when faced by new people or situations. Turn to a practical Capricorn for help.

Virgo
24 August-23 September ★★
There may be turbulence on the romantic or home front, but by confronting issues head on you'll be able to smooth things out. This is a good month to set the record straight with someone who has lied or cheated.

Libra
24 September-23 October ★★
Despite your usual even-handed approach, someone will feel you're taking sides. This could be because you feel a twinge of favouritism, or perhaps past experience has made you wiser. Try to explain your reasons and motives to others.

Scorpio
24 October-22 November ★★
Loving Venus puts you in a mellow mood, but it also makes you more self-indulgent than usual. There could be trouble in a close relationship this month, when a loved one accuses you of indifference and withdraws his or her affection.

Sagittarius
23 November-22 December ★★
The real test for your sign is overcoming difficulties without losing your confidence. There may be a few obstacles to overcome in your personal life this month and each time you stumble, it will be harder to regain your footing.

Capricorn
23 December-20 January ★★★
One of your life lessons may have presented a challenge this year, but in true Capricorn style you have learned it well. Now you command greater respect from others and your normally shaky confidence is at an all-time high.

Aquarius
21 January-19 February ★★
Beneath that brusque exterior of yours beats a heart of gold, but you're selective about who you share your feelings with. Indications are you'll be more open this month, allowing others into your private world and sharing confidences.

Pisces
20 February-20 March ★★
At last your sense of direction will become clear, allowing you to put the past behind you and make plans for the future. You have many people to thank for your current good fortune, so give praise and credit wherever it's due.

LIVE FORD GOLF USA: MICHELOB CHAMPIONSHIP
SKY SPORTS 3 7.00PM

The 2000 golf season has so far truly been the year of the Tiger, but Woods has not been the only player of note on the US PGA Tour. The Native American Notah Begay (pictured) has made a huge impression, both with his wins at home – including the Fedex St Jude Classic and the Canon Greater Hartford Open – and his performances abroad at the Loch Lomond tournament and British Open. Today, he starts his defence of the prestigious $3m Michelob Championship.

5.55 Pleasantville
Reese Witherspoon, Tobey Maguire, Jeff Daniels
Satire about a brother and sister who are zapped into the world of a 1950s soap opera. Once in a black-and-white world, the kids bring colour to the lives of the inhabitants. An evocative film, challenging the notion that things would be better if we returned to 1950s values. Text 1998, rating Sky PG, DS, 119 mins
8.00 Shakespeare in Love
Joseph Fiennes, Gwyneth Paltrow, Geoffrey Rush
Comedy about Shakespeare and his fictional relationship with a young woman. The playwright hits a dry patch and it is not until a beautiful aristocratic woman enters his life that he receives a creative boost, giving him the confidence to write the classic Romeo and Juliet. Text 1998, rating Sky 15, DS, 119 mins
10.05 As Good as it Gets

Fact-based drama. 1999, rating Sky PG, 90 mins

4.20 Take My Advice: The Ann and Abby Story
Wendie Malick, Robert Desiderio, Kip Gilman
Biography of two feuding advice columnist twins.
1999, rating Sky PG, 87 mins
5.55 Wayne's World
Mike Myers, Dana Carvey, Rob Lowe, Tia Carrere
Comedy abounds as the pair get their own film. The dudes seem to have hit the big time when a TV executive buys the rights to the show, but the offer isn't all it seems, and disenchantment soon sets in. Text 1991, rating Sky PG, DS, 90 mins
7.30 UK Top Ten
A run down of the current British top ten box office films.
8.00 Major League 3: Back to the Minors

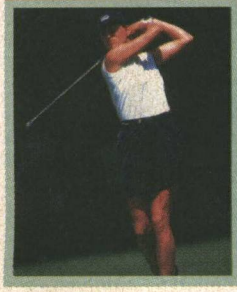
LIVE GOLF: SOLHEIM CUP SKY SPORTS 1 8.00AM



This year, it's the women's turn to fight for glory in a biennial team event as the three-day Solheim Cup begins at the Loch Lomond Golf Club. The Americans blasted the Europeans in 1998 and have a phenomenal team with stars including Sherri Steinhauer (pictured, right); but all is not lost for their underdog rivals. Annika Sörenstam and Laura Davies are still formidable, while players such as Patricia Meunier Lebouc (pictured, left) are coming through.

Week 2

Saturday 7th October-Friday 13th October

A celebration of scares on Fright-day the 13th

If you laugh in the face of superstition, then dim the lights, wedge a bucket of buttered popcorn between your knees and sink into the sofa for Sci-Fi's celebration of the Friday the 13th movies, which this week takes in Parts 2 and 3. For those unfamiliar with this landmark fright franchise, which began life in 1980, the series villain, Jason Voorhees, is a seemingly unstoppable, ice-hockey mask-wearing psycho who causes havoc for hapless teenagers. Taking its grisly cues from A Bay of Blood, a darkly comic 1971 outing from Italy's maestro of the macabre Mario Bava, the original helped spawn the teen body-count horror movie – a much-maligned sub-genre which has recently been given an ironic, post-modern overhaul with the Scream series. Sean S Cunningham's direction may have lacked the wit and visual flair of the great Bava, but it certainly pushed all the right fear buttons and the film boasts many jump-off-the-sofa jolts. The directorial reins were handed to the first film's associate producer Steve Miner for Friday the 13th Part 2, in which the vengeful Jason dispatches a new group of teen camp counsellors in decoratively gruesome style. Miner returned for Friday the 13th Part 3 (originally released in 3D), which sees Jason taking on a motorcycle gang.

Sci-Fi, Friday 13th from 10.00pm

Andromeda – the final frontier

The endless possibilities of outer space proved a huge inspiration for the late Gene Roddenberry, the creative force behind such science-fiction classics as the incredibly influential Star Trek. The latest in Roddenberry's rich fantasy legacy to reach our screens is Andromeda, which was brought to life by Gene's widow, Majel Barrett Roddenberry, from his extensive notes. Roddenberry fans will no doubt be pleased that the show stands up well against his vintage work; it boasts high production values, well-crafted characters and its epic canvas spans three galaxies. Dylan Hunt, played by former Hercules hunk Kevin Sorbo, is impressive as the captain of the System's Commonwealth High Guard. He is awakened after 300 years of suspended animation to take the helm of a living starship, the Andromeda Ascendant. Other characters include Andromeda, the mysterious Trance Gemini, the ship's repairman Seamus Harper and Rev Bem, an alien who acts as scientist, sociologist and linguist.

Sky One, Mondays from 9th, 8.00pm

See our interview with Kevin Sorbo on page 137.

Friendly rivalry? Not in this game

The tradition of rivalry between the national football teams of England and Germany has resulted in some passionately contested matches. And fans will be hoping that the sides' next encounter this Saturday will turn into another classic game. This is the final match to be played at Wembley before the long-awaited redevelopment of the famous stadium begins, so the home side will be wanting to bid farewell to the hallowed turf with a comprehensive win over their old foes.

More importantly, though, if England do emerge victorious, then they will secure a commanding position in the World Cup qualifiers.

Both teams made disappointingly early exits from Euro 2000; indeed, England won their only match of the championships against Germany, though the visitors will probably be in no hurry to let their guard down again.

With the retirement of front man and former skipper Alan Shearer from the international scene, Keegan will be hoping that one of the squad's other strikers, such as the dangerously on-form Michael Owen (pictured), will be prepared to take the initiative.

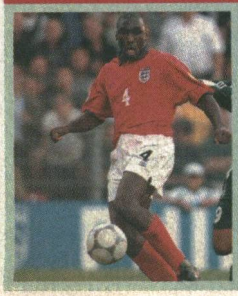
LIVE INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL: ENGLAND V GERMANY
SKY SPORTS 2 2.00PM



Was it only four short months since England edged a Euro 2000 group game against Germany with a goal by Alan Shearer? This afternoon – in England's last match at Wembley – the two old adversaries do battle again, this time in a World Cup qualifier, and the action is unlikely to be prettier than it was in the summer. Kevin Keegan will be looking to the likes of Sol Campbell (pictured, left) to repel the German attack, which should include Alexander Zickler (pictured, right).

FILMFOUR
ADD-ON CHANNEL

2.00pm Keepers of the Frame
Documentary offering a timely reminder of the importance of preserving our film heritage, not just of early blockbusters but of home movies, silent shorts and newsreels. As this film points out, not only is filmed history as important as the written word or architecture, it is also a massive part of our heritage, and almost half of all US films made prior to 1950 no longer exist on an original print.

3.20 Forgotten Silver
Documentary film rewriting the history of cinematography. When producers discover the work of an all but forgotten turn-of-the century pioneer from New Zealander.
4.20 Tigrero – A Film that Was Never Made
This documentary film follows two directors on a trip into Brazil's Matto Grosso where, 40 years before, one had scouted the area for a film based on the tigreros, the Karaja jaguar hunters. 1994, 75 mins
6.00 Lumiere Et Compagnie
To celebrate cinema's centenary, 40 famous directors were asked to shoot a 60 second film using one of Lumiere's original cameras. This is the result, a fascinating collage of work from the likes of Claude Lelouch, David Lynch, John Boorman and Spike Lee. In various languages and subtitled. 1995, 88 mins
8.00 Life of Brian
Graham Chapman, John Cleese, Terry Gilliam, Eric Idle, Terry Jones, Michael Palin
Comedy about a reluctant Messiah and his bizarre adventures. Text 1979, 90 mins
9.40 Short Film: Words from My Father
A man returns from war and visits the wife of a friend.

10.00 The Land Girls
Catherine McCormack, Rachel Weisz, Anna Friel
Romantic drama in which three very different girls in the Land Army, the volunteer force that replaced agricultural workers, are called up for service in the Second World War. They are sent to a Dorset farm and face heartbreak as they all fall for the same man. Text 1997, 111 mins

LIVE FIRST DIVISION FOOTBALL: QPR V FULHAM SKY SPORTS 2 12NOON

borrow £20,000 for just £187 a month

If you're thinking about borrowing a large sum of money but you don't want to lose control of your own finances, then it makes sense to talk to someone you know you can trust. Someone like Black Horse Finance.

We have your interests in mind and you can depend on us to offer you a safe and responsible way to borrow the amount you need.

With our secured Homeowner Loan you could afford to purchase almost anything you have your eye on, or you could reorganise other loans and credit into one affordable monthly repayment.

You can borrow from £20,000 to £50,000 at 9.9% APR (variable), and choose to spread the repayments over 5 to 20 years. Loans from £3,000 to £19,900 are also available at other rates. Our optional, recommended Payment Protection Plan is designed to go to work when you can't. It can help meet your payments in the event of death, illness, accident, compulsory redundancy (or hospitalisation if self-employed). It's a small price to pay for complete peace of mind.

If you would like to apply for a loan, you can call us free on 0800 378 151 9am-9pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat-Sun or for hearing or speech impaired customers with their own textphone, call 0800 731 7098. Alternatively, complete and return the coupon below. Either way, we won't ask you for an interview or charge an arrangement fee.

Homeowner Loan Repayments

Variable APR	Loan £	Without Cover 240 months	Without Cover 180 months	Without Cover 120 months	With Single Cover 240 months	With Single Cover 180 months	With Single Cover 120 months

MOTORCYCLING: MOTOGP IN RIO DE JANEIRO BRITISH EUROSPORT 7.30AM

A strong field of talented 500cc riders took to the Nelson Piquet circuit in Rio de Janeiro for the Brizilian Grand Prix. It was here that Alex Criville secured his first ever 500cc world championship title last year. With several wins under his belt, American Kenny Roberts Jr (pictured) with Suzuki is looking mature enough to maintain his strong challenge for the title this year, but the Italian Valentino Rossi and Carlos Checa of Spain will be hot on his heels.

COMPILED by PHILIPPA PROBERT

Heeeerrreeee's Johnny!

As superstar Johnny Bravo takes over Cartoon Network's airwaves during half term with Bravo Live, Cable Guide gets intimate with the hunk himself ...

Q: How does it feel to have your own week-long show?
A: When you are a hot-looking love machine superstar like me, TV is the best way to share yourself with chicks across the nation. When chicks meet me off-screen they are so intimidated they run away screaming. Man, I'll never understand that.
Q: What can we expect to see?
A: I'll be sharing my secrets of cool with all the 'toon fans who ring in, playing their favourite cartoons and lots of other cool games on the Cartoon Network website (www.cartoonnetwork.co.uk).
Q: What does your ideal woman look like?
A: Let's see ... I guess I'm lookin' for a chick who will see through this superstar image and find the 6ft 5in hunk of muscled studly love that is the real me. Other than that, I'd like to meet someone who returns my calls.
Q: What's the one thing you couldn't live without?
A: Oh, little mamas and papas, I can't tell you how important good shades are to your coolness. The trick with shades is, never take them off. As soon as the shades come off a star, the magic is gone. THAT my little buddies is why I NEVER take my shades off. And THAT is why mama won't let me go out at night ... You need to make these sacrifices if you are going to be cool like Johnny Bravo.

Bravo Live, Monday 23rd to Friday 27th and new episodes of Johnny Bravo, Cartoon Network, weekdays 7.30am, weekends 5.30pm

WIN! Whoa, mama! Courtesy of Cartoon Network, we have a groovy Johnny Bravo mountain bike up for grabs, with a cool Johnny Bravo speaking watch for 20 runners-up! To enter, answer this question:

On which channel can you watch Bravo Live?

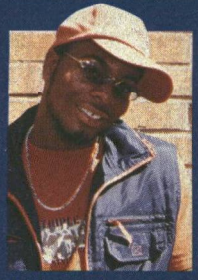
Send your answer, with your name and address, to Cable Guide/Johnny Bravo competition, PO Box 2176, London W1A 5TW. The first 21 correct entries drawn at random will win. Closing date 31 October 2000. Full competition rules on page 216.

For the full lowdown on our chat with Johnny Bravo, check out www.cableguide.co.uk

One Kel of a guy!

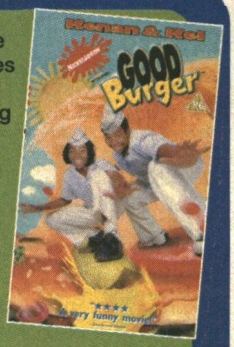


Kel Mitchell has graced the stage, the TV and the big screen. He's also a singer, musician and a dancer. And at the ripe old age of 22, he's married, with a baby boy as well. Kel, one half of the duo in hit comedy series Kenan and Kel, was on his first trip to London when Cable Guide caught up with him: 'I'm having a blast here,' he grins. 'I love this place!'

Accompanied by wife Tyisha and baby son Lyric, Kel is obviously the happy family man. He's ambitious, too. His sights are set on hitting the charts with an album (he's in a group called MAFT), and he's got plans for his own TV show. Although Kenan and Kel finished filming last year, the pair remain best buddies: 'We're older now and have two different kinds of lifestyles,' says Kel. 'But we still hang out – we're like brothers, he's cool!'

Kenan and Kel, Nickelodeon, daily, and Kenan and Kel Day, Sunday 22nd

WIN! We have 20 copies of the comedy flick Good Burger, starring Kenan and Kel as outrageous burger boys, to give away courtesy of Paramount Home Video. To be in with a chance to win one, just answer this question:



What's the name of Kel's co-star?

Send your answer, with your name and address, to Cable Guide/Kenan and Kel competition, PO Box 2176, London W1A 5TW. The first 20 correct entries drawn at random will win. Closing date 31 October 2000. Full competition rules on page 216.

Powercable Teens

The Spice is Right

As the Spice Girls make a welcome return to the charts after a two-year hiatus, and MTV devotes a day to the singing sensations, Cable Guide takes a look at how the four solo Spices have been spreading their wings

Victoria Beckham

Posh Spice has proved many of her critics wrong with the success of her television venture, Victoria's Secrets, and her first solo single, Out of Your Mind. While this Truesteppers collaboration was just pipped to the number one spot, Victoria has clearly demonstrated her determination to succeed. With her own album on the horizon, hubby David Beckham and son Brooklyn can feel justifiably proud.

Melanie C

The most prolific of the quartet, Mel C has notched up four hit singles, topping the chart with two, as well as an impressive debut album, Northern Star. Working with the likes of Bryan Adams and Lisa 'Left Eye' Lopes, Mel C is the only Spice to have tackled a UK and European solo tour, which includes a scheduled date at Wembley Arena next month.

Melanie B

From Mel B, to Mel G, and back to Mel B again, she has certainly been a busy B over the last two years. Daughter Phoenix Chi may be Mel's main priority now, but her solo career is also firmly grounded after chart success with three tracks, most recently the hit Tell Me. She's even appeared in a short film, Fish, as a single mother living on a housing estate.
Her debut album, Hot, is released on Monday 2nd.

Emma Bunton

A hit single, What I Am, with Tin Tin Out, and a string of high-profile appearances presenting SMTV Live and CD:UK with Cat Deeley, has seen the baby of the bunch branch out with aplomb from the Spice Girls camp. She has also been busy writing her own album – news is that she's penned 18 tracks already! Steady on there, Emma!

The double A-side single Holler/Let Love Lead the Way is released on Monday 23rd. The Spice Girls' third album, Forever, goes on sale on 6 November.

Spice Girls Day, MTV, Friday 13th, featuring the UK and Ireland premiere of Making the Video: The Spice Girls' Holler, 6.00pm

LIVE REPUBLIC OF IRELAND V ESTONIA
SKY SPORTS 1 7.30PM

Manchester United captain Roy Keane will be hoping to lead his country once again as the Republic of Ireland play host to Estonia. Manager Mick McCarthy may also be looking to add the strike power of Roy's namesake Robbie Keane (pictured), now of Inter Milan, to help clinch a victory in this Group Two World Cup qualifier. Ireland face a tough list of contenders in their group, notably Euro 2000 semi-finalists Portugal and the Netherlands – who they drew 2-2 with last month.

LIVE EURO TOUR GOLF: ALFRED DUNHILL CUP
SKY SPORTS 1 10.00AM

Spain return to St Andrews in Scotland to defend the Alfred Dunhill Cup. The Spanish trio of Sergio Garcia, José Maria Olazábal (pictured) and Miguel Angel Jiménez clinched victory in 1999 by defeating Australia – who won the first two events in 1985 and 1986 – 2-1 in the final. It was the first win for Spain, having been defeated by South Africa in the final the previous year. The total prize money is £3m, with £300,000 going to the winning team.

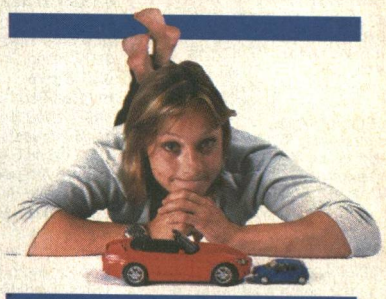
Viva variety!



Vicki Butler-Henderson
GIRL RACER

Although Vicki Butler-Henderson has just bought a new motorbike on the spur of the moment, on the whole, she prefers the idea of the test drive

VARIETY IS the spice of life, as the old saying goes. And it should also apply to the cars you choose to own throughout your life.

Some, though, don't agree with me on this issue. A good friend of mine has always run some sort of Mercedes-Benz. He's had them all – estate and saloon; he's run diesel and petrol. Then there's another mate who swears the only car to have is a Vauxhall. I think he's got so obsessed with the manufacturer that he refuses to believe any other make exists. But both of them are really missing out. I'm quite sure of it. Too many people buy the same make time and time again, without ever trying the huge range of vehicles out there. It is very worrying.

So I've devised a very simple test to see if you need to start living it up a little.

If you've ever said – or even thought – any of the following things when you bought your last car, then it's definitely time for a change:

You said: 'The dealership is just around the corner, which is so convenient.'

I say: 'Have you not heard that most garages offer courtesy cars, which means you can afford to look further afield?'

You said: 'The people who sold me my car were so nice that I'm going back.'

I say: 'Of course they were, they're making money from you.'

You said: 'My car (or perhaps cars) never lets me down.'

I say: 'Well, that's because most modern cars are pretty reliable.'

If any of the above applies to you, get smart and look around. Go for as many test drives as possible and really get a feel for as many different four-wheeled lovelies as you can. And if, like me, you simply can't decide on just the one car, then I recommend getting a couple!

When it comes to buying a motorbike, however, things are much more difficult because it's quite a job to persuade dealers to give you a test ride. It's too risky for business. And I know this – I've tried. Desperate to have my very own motorcycle parked in my very own driveway, I've had to rely on magazines and the look of the bike to come to a decision.

There are a few dealers who will trust you with the keys, if they like the look of you, but I've not had the time or the brains to hunt them down. So I've gone against all my own advice and bought one on a pure whim – without even turning a wheel on it.

I don't know yet if I have been impulsive and foolish, but one thing I do know is that I'm very, very excited about picking up my brand spanking new yellow Ducati Monster 750. Only time will tell if I've made a mistake.

So, given that you have the chance to take the wheel of almost every single car on the market, don't let it slip by. You might just get a pleasant surprise!

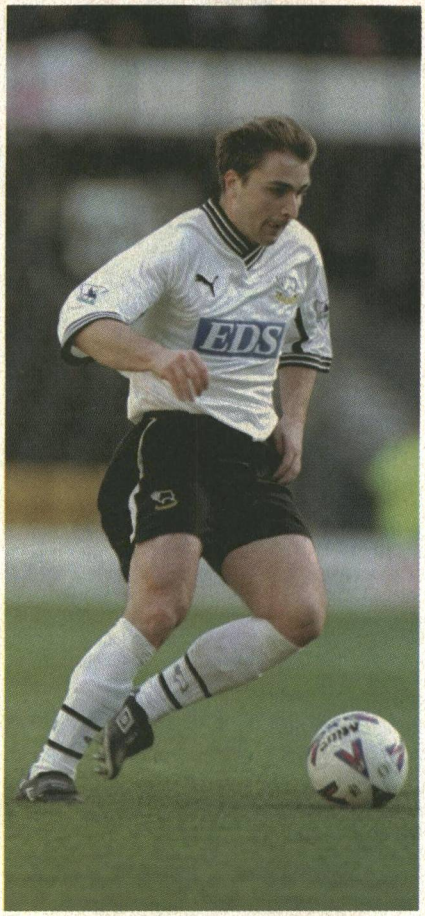
Week 3

Saturday 14th October-Friday 20th October

Can Derby launch a County attack?

A mere five points ensured Premiership safety for Derby County last season. The Rams would have hoped to get the current campaign off to a strong start but, despite some heroic comebacks, drew four out of their first five games. County (whose Georgi Kinkladze is pictured) have demonstrated a never-say-die determination and have proved that they can find the back of the net. However, their leaky defence is in desperate need of a plug, especially when faced by the likes of Michael Owen, who pays a visit to Pride Park this Sunday with Liverpool.

Sky Sports 1, Sunday 15th, 3.00pm – LIVE



Please pray silence for a classic

One of the finest British comedy series of recent years makes a welcome bow on UK Gold this week. The sublimely written I'm Alan Partridge is blessed with a brilliant character study by Steve Coogan as the disgraced, down-on-his-luck former TV personality whose chat show Knowing Me, Knowing You was beset by controversy (Partridge accidentally shot a guest and punched the BBC's chief commissioning editor on air) and eventually cancelled. He now finds himself working in early morning regional radio and, after the break-up of his marriage, living in a Travel Tavern. The laughs come thick and fast, but the show makes some affecting observations about loneliness and failure and it's testament to Coogan's skill as a performer that he can summon up sympathy for such a grotesquely comic figure.

LIVE FORD GOLF USA: INVENSYS CLASSIC AT LAS VEGAS SKY SPORTS 2 10.00PM

Las Vegas – the gambling mecca of the US – has been a lucky place for American golfer Jim Furyk (pictured). Having enjoyed a number of exceptional seasons, the lofty 30-year-old has managed to take the Invensys Classic title three times in the last five years. That's probably why he's favourite to make it four and lift the $765,000 first prize again this year. Today's live action in this $4.25m event will see the stars of the US PGA Tour take to the TPC course at Summerlin.

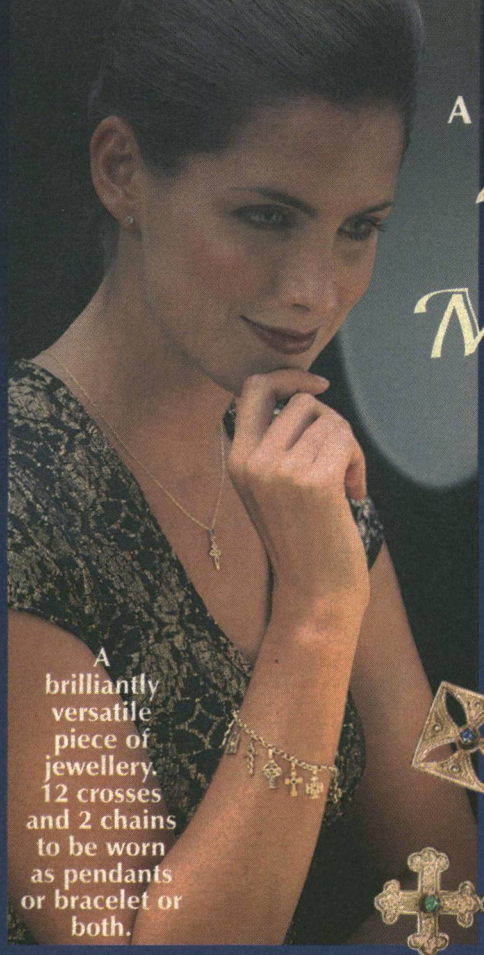
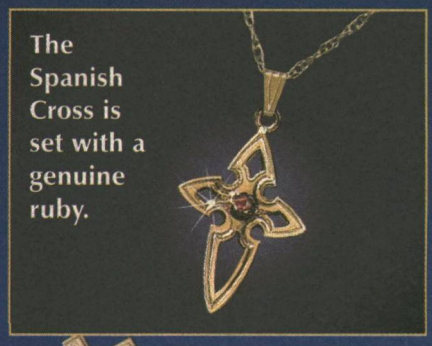
A wonderful way to begin the new century by collecting

The Crosses of the Millennium Bracelet



A brilliantly versatile piece of jewellery. 12 crosses and 2 chains to be worn as pendants or bracelet or both.



The Spanish Cross is set with a genuine ruby.

Collect the 12 jewelled crosses, one each month and receive the neck chain and the bracelet chain Absolutely FREE!

SHOWN SLIGHTLY LARGER THAN ACTUAL SIZE

Twelve beautiful, historic crosses, handcrafted in Britain in 9 carat gold, each set with a real, hand-cut gem, make up this stunning piece of jewellery.

Real sapphire for the cross of St.Edward that tops the crown of Great Britain, real emerald for the cross of St. Patrick, real ruby for the Jerusalem cross, real amethyst for the cross of Ancient Egypt and a real diamond for the celebrated millennium cross itself.

The first in this unique collection comes with a delicate, 9 carat gold, neck-chain at no extra cost, so you may wear each cross as a pendant, until, with the sixth cross, you receive the , 9 carat gold, bracelet chain, FREE.

You can attach the crosses to the chain with the gold snap links that are provided.

What is more, the crosses come with a Certificate of Authenticity and a booklet to tell their history, rich with fascinating detail and curious legends that span 2000 years.

The 9 inch long, satin and velvet-lined presentation box is sent to you with your first cross.

The Bracelet of the Millennium is not available in any shop or gallery.

Fabulous value for the luxury of 9 carat gold and real gems.

ONLY £24.95 each cross.

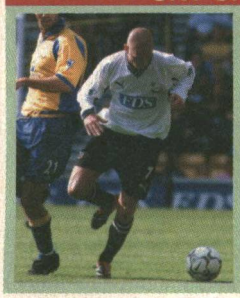
LIVE FORD SUPER SUNDAY: DERBY COUNTY V LIVERPOOL SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM



Jim Smith's Derby were awful in front of their own fans last season, losing 10 Premier League games – some of which they should have won. Today they entertain Liverpool, who are set for another strong season as they aim to return to the very top of the tree. The midfield will be a keenly contested area, with the tenacious young Seth Johnson (pictured, left) leading the home team, and Liverpool new signing Nick Barmby (pictured, right) aiming to show his class for the visitors.

Eyes Wide Shut
Front Row, see listings for details
The teasing trailer for Stanley Kubrick's final film might have given viewers the wrong impression. Tom Cruise embarks on a night's adventure, spurred on by wife Nicole Kidman's admission to a flirtation, but this is not a sexy movie, more a study of sexual obsession.

GENERAL

NASA Explores Under the Ice
Discovery 10.00pm
Marine archaeologists and NASA engineers team up to test the technology available for under-ice exploration. This premiere follows the first underwater archaeological expedition in the Arctic as they search for a 19th-century Yankee whaling fleet.

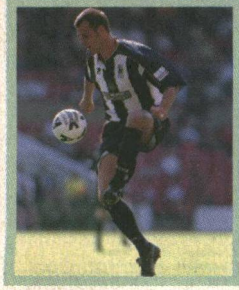
LIVE WEST BROMWICH V WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS SKY SPORTS 2 7.30PM



The West Midlands was one of the hotbeds of top-line football a couple of decades ago, but now West Bromwich Albion and Wolves languish in Division One, although both believe they have Premier League quality teams. The Hawthorns is the venue for tonight's Black Country derby, which includes plenty of foreign talent like Jason van Blerk (pictured, left) for the home team and ex-Newcastle man Temuri Ketsbaia (pictured, right) in the visitors' line-up.

FILM

Bride of Chucky
Sky Moviemax 10.15pm
Jennifer Tilly works a spell to revive the evil doll Chucky, who's inhabited by the personality of her ex-boyfriend, but soon ends up a doll herself. A gleefully trashy addition to the Child's Play films, played for laughs, with plenty of references to other horror movies.

SORBO'S NEW JOURNEY

Rather than beefing up for his new role, Kevin Sorbo is taking a more relaxed approach in the brand new sci-fi hit Andromeda, writes Paul Simpson

ATTENTION Hercules fans – Kevin Sorbo is back on your screens this month. He plays Dylan Hunt, captain of the Andromeda Ascendant, in the new sci-fi show Andromeda (Sky One, Mondays, 8.00pm from the 9th), derived from the writings of Star Trek creator Gene Roddenberry. But it's a smaller Sorbo than the one you normally see in the weekly reruns of Hercules: The Legendary Journeys – unlike many actors who have to build up their physique for screen roles, Sorbo has actually had to go the other way, and he's pleased about it. 'Really, just to play a muscle guy is going to get old, and it may have already happened,' he admits from the set of the show in Vancouver. 'I thought it was time to portray a different sort of character, so I dropped the weight. I'm lean, but I'm still in shape. I can still kick butt. After working out 80 hours a week and going to the gym every day for seven seasons, I said, "Why can't I just have a different physicality?"'

Like Hercules, Hunt is still very clearly the man in charge, though in this new show Hunt finds himself 300 years ahead of his own future, rather than in Ancient Greece, after the Andromeda Ascendant gets caught in a black hole at the end of a critical battle. Working with the salvage team who find the ship, Hunt decides that he wants to recreate the glory days of the System Commonwealth. 'The series will be more in the spirit of the original Star Trek,' Sorbo explains, 'with Hunt and his crew visiting all these wild worlds as they try to restore peace.'

Captain courageous: Kevin Sorbo flying high as Dylan Hunt aboard the Andromeda Ascendant. Chocks away, it's time for take off!

Playing Hunt doesn't mean that Sorbo will be stuck in a uniform. Executive producer Majel Barrett Roddenberry jokes, 'As the producer, I can say his shirt is going to be off just as often as possible.' However, fans may be keeping a close eye on his co-star, Keith Hamilton Cobb, who plays the very forthright Tyr Anasazi. 'He's about 6ft 5in and 265lbs,' Sorbo points out. 'He's got about two per cent body fat on him – he's huge. And, he can do the one-armed pull-ups. I just watch.'

Sorbo is keen on the change of pace at this stage of his career. 'After Hercules I needed to do something serious,' he says. 'I'm very competitive. Ninety nine out of 100 people can tell me I'm a good actor, but what really fuels my fire is the one who says, "You're just another Malibu Ken."'

Sorbo gets a chance to showcase a different side to his character playing opposite his real wife, who aptly plays the girl he left behind – in this case, 300 years behind! Thanks to the wonders of science fiction, Hunt can talk to her briefly. 'It's a heavy episode where I basically tell her, "I can't get to you any more."' Sorbo promises that it's a tear-jerker.

'The producers asked me if my wife would be interested in the part, and I said, "I'm sure she would be. She doesn't want me kissing someone else!"' he laughs. 'They promised me a love interest further down the road, but that is the only episode where I've had a little bit of action – and that was with my own wife, so what the heck!'

FREAKY FRIDAY

We all know it's Halloween this month, but there's a Friday the 13th too. To mark the doubly spooky occasion, Sci-Fi is showing the cult slasher movies Friday the 13th: Part 2 and Part 3 – so how unlucky can it be?

FRIDAY THE 13TH FACTS

- Triskaidekaphobia is the name given to people who have an abnormal fear of the number 13.
- Friday the 13th superstition originates from Norse mythology. The goddess Freya was said to meet with eleven witches and the devil on 'Freya's day' (otherwise known as Friday) to hatch evil plots.
- The original Friday the 13th film was the most successful in the series, grossing over $37m on its release. The series as a whole has grossed over $250m.
- Friday the 13th fittingly opened on the birthday of its masked murderer, Jason Voorhees – Friday, 13 June.
- Adam Marcus, who directed the last sequel Jason Goes To Hell in 1993, served as a gofer on the original film when he was 11 years old.
- Just when you thought it was safe, after seven years away from the screen, Jason is set to return. Jason X is due for release on 13 April 2001.
- Hot on the heels of Jason X, Freddy vs Jason is the next instalment to go in front of the cameras.

Ken Venturi and Peter Thomson are the two non-playing captains in charge of hosts USA and an International select team. Qualification is based on the amount of USPGA Tour money earned from the first tournament of 1999 to the 2000 USPGA Championship. The International team are the defending champions, having thrashed their opponents at the Royal Melbourne Golf Club in December 1998. Will home advantage be a crucial factor this time round? All the best golfers in the world will be present, including the awesomely gifted Tiger Woods who, if playing anything like his best, could well be unstoppable. He has certainly had his best season since turning professional, having won the British and American Opens as well as the USPGA Championship. However, the International team won't be intimidated and will once again be hoping to beat the Americans. This tournament combines the intense individual competition of the week-in-week-out tournament with the added dimension of national pride and team spirit. It is in very much the same vein as the Ryder and Dunhill Cups, and if it produces just a fraction of the drama and excitement that these two great competitions have done over the years, viewers will be in for a great few days. Week 4

Saturday 21st October-Tuesday 31st October

Having a scream on Halloween

A hugely influential (and profitable) horror film, John Carpenter's 1978 Halloween saw teenager Laurie (Jamie Lee Curtis in a career-making role) and her friends stalked by an unstoppable, vaguely supernatural, masked assailant, who had escaped from a psychiatric institution. For effect, Carpenter relied on carefully cultivated tension rather than gratuitous gore. But such was the director's skill at summoning suspense and mounting, memorable, heart-pounding shocks that many viewers remember it as being a lot more grisly than it actually was. If anything, Carpenter demonstrated great tact and a real sense of style – something that was lacking from the series of sequels, none of which he directed. But the most recent entry in this stalk-and-slash franchise, Halloween: H20 is the best, thanks to the deluxe direction of Steve Miner (who has an impressive horror pedigree, having started his film career as an assistant on Wes Craven's notorious debut The Last House on the Left before calling the shots on the first two Friday the 13th sequels) and the strong performance of the returning Curtis. The veteran scream queen's character has tried to start a new life as a headmistress. But her horrific past is destined to catch up with her again ...

Sky MovieMax, Tuesday 31st, 10.00pm

United we fall?

A match of pure Premiership pedigree graces the brunch-time slot on Sky Sports this Saturday: perennial title favourites Manchester United (whose hot shot striker Dwight Yorke is pictured) face a challenge at Old Trafford from one of the few genuine top-spot contenders, Leeds United, who, while they haven't had the best start to the season, boast real staying power. Sir Alex Ferguson's side pulled off the double over Leeds last season, so the visitors will be in the mood for some payback.

The Holiday blues

As part of its Black History Month, the History Channel pays tribute to the tragic jazz and blues legend Billie Holiday. Frank Sinatra described her as, 'The most important influence on American popular singing'. But, during her own time she was criminally underrated. Holiday's natural diction, phrasing and dramatic intensity made her unique, but she once wrote, 'Singing songs like The Man I Love or Porgy is no more work than sitting down and eating Chinese roast duck'. The world was robbed of an incredible talent when Holiday died in 1959, aged just 44. But her musical legacy will live on forever.

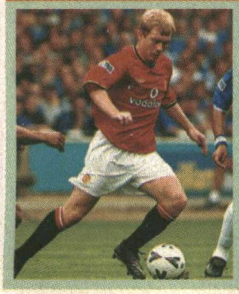
LIVE FORD FOOTBALL SPECIAL: MANCHESTER UNITED V LEEDS SKY SPORTS 1 11.00AM



The cross-Pennine rivalry between Manchester United and Leeds has recently provided one of the highlight games of the season, which could be repeated in this Premier League encounter. The young men of Leeds, including Alan Smith and Ian Harte (pictured, right), are not afraid to play at Old Trafford where the home team can pick from a host of internationals like Paul Scholes (pictured, left). For the Red Devils to be beaten at home would be a shock, but Leeds could be the team to do it.

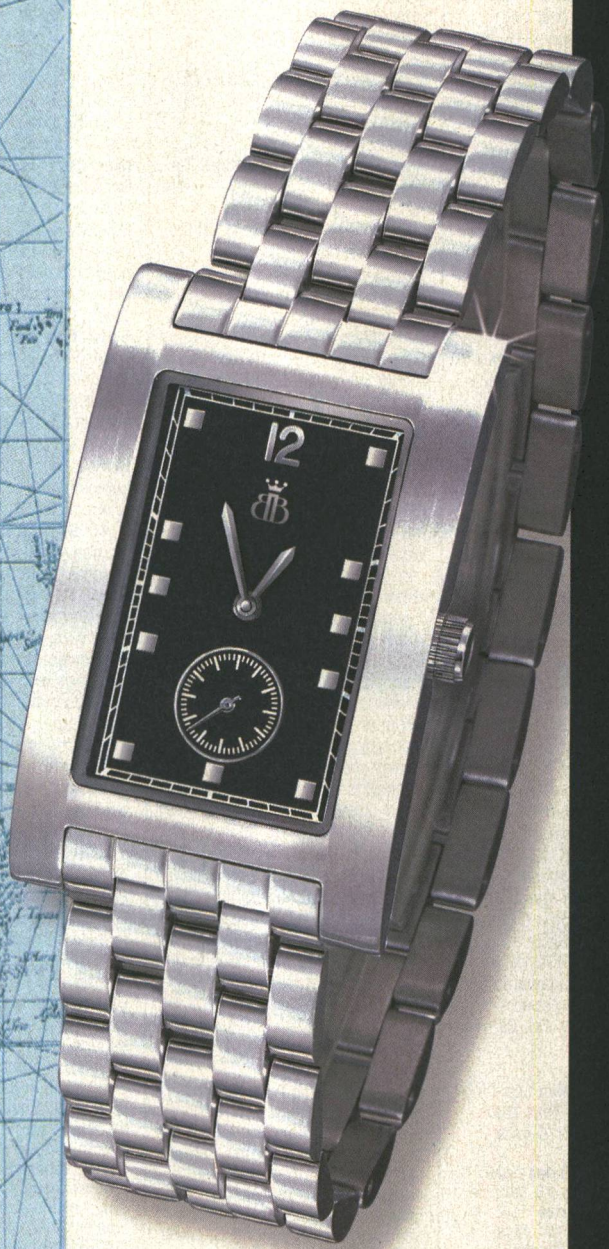
THE MERIDIAN

GENTLEMEN'S WATCH

Announcing a prestigious new timepiece that celebrates the birth of the new Millennium



Shown larger than actual size of 8½" (21.5cm) in length.

Since 1884, London has had the privileged honour of being the official Universal timekeeper that the whole of the world adheres to. Situated on the famous Meridian Line, at precisely zero degrees longitude, Greenwich holds the key to the future now that the new Millennium has arrived. And now, in celebration of this unique event, the master jewellers of Brooks & Bentley proudly present The Meridian Gentlemen's Watch.

With innovative style and precision timing, this dramatic new masterpiece boasts a distinctive dark grey watchface embellished with individually applied numerals in gleaming silver tones and a fully functional subsidiary dial. And for the ultimate finishing touch, each distinguished watch features a brushed stainless steel watch strap making it the perfect choice for the man whose time is the most precious gift of all.

Available exclusively from Brooks & Bentley at the Special Offer Price of just £96.00* (Regular price £125.00), The Meridian Gentlemen's Watch is payable in four monthly instalments. What's more, each finely polished timepiece comes complete with a luxury presentation case and a Certificate of Authenticity attesting to its valued status as a Brooks & Bentley original.

To experience the sophisticated splendour that is The Meridian Gentlemen's Watch, please telephone our 24 Hour Express Order Line on 0870 444 0011 today to secure your order. Alternatively, complete and return your reservation form below by 10th November, 2000. You need send no money now. Ref: 2027944

OUR PLEDGE OF COMPLETE SATISFACTION

Brooks & Bentley takes pride in offering works of uncompromisingly high standards of quality, created with care and dedication by skilled craftsmen. If you are not satisfied with your purchase for any reason, simply return it within one year for a replacement or full refund. This pledge is in addition to your statutory rights.

LIVE FORD SUPER SUNDAY: ASTON VILLA V SUNDERLAND
SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

Football managers might like to focus on the tightness of their defences, but fans are only bewitched by the men who can turn matches and score goals. This afternoon's match between Aston Villa and Sunderland sees two popular players with plenty to prove. Villa star Steve Stone (pictured, left) is on a mission to direct the Midlanders back into Premier League contention this season, while Sunderland's Kevin Phillips (pictured, right) now has a reputation to protect.

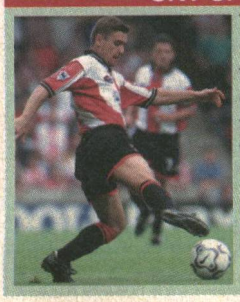
LIVE SOUTHAMPTON V MANCHESTER CITY SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM



The rebirth of Manchester City has been a true Cinderella story in the past two seasons, and this visit to Southampton will tell us a great deal about their potential to survive in the top flight. Manager Joe Royle is mixing stars like the 1995 world footballer of the year George Weah (pictured, right) with the men who won promotion last season in the hope of creating a winning blend. Meanwhile, the Saints are a tough team to beat at The Dell, especially with Marian Pahars (pictured, left) in the line-up.

LIFESTYLE/ SELECTION PACKS

QVC The Shopping Channel is at your service 24-hours-a-day – so watch when you can and tape when you can't. All you need is an item number. Call free phone on 0800-50-40-30 at any time. Today's highlight is Tova at 9.00pm.

Wrinkle Resistant Chinos, £19 plus free P&P.

Here in the Lake District we always try to do our best to give you the highest quality clothing at the lowest possible prices – but we have really outdone ourselves this time.

We haven't cut corners with these chinos, they have been well-made from a substantial cotton fabric that's soft, hard-wearing and remarkably wrinkle resistant.

There are two styles of chino for both men and women. At only £19, not only are they great value for money, but if you order today postage and packing is also included free of charge.

Plus, this unbeatable offer is backed by our no nonsense money back guarantee, so you have nothing to lose, except the best value chinos offer you've seen in ages.

- The soft cotton fabric has been specially treated so you'll find that it actually resists creasing even after washing and day to day wearing.
- No need to iron - after washing simply tumble dry and hang for a perfect finish.
- Free Postage & Packing and free returns – a prepaid label is included in your order.
- Fully guaranteed - if you're not completely satisfied with your order, return it to us free of charge within 14 days for a refund or a prompt replacement.

LIVE INTERNATIONAL CRICKET: PAKISTAN V ENGLAND
SKY SPORTS 2 6.00AM, 9.30AM

LIVE EURO TOUR GOLF: ITALIAN OPEN SKY SPORTS 1 1.00PM

The popular Italian golfer Constantino Rocca (pictured) will have plenty of support from the home crowd as he makes a determined bid for the title at this year's Italian Open, which tees off at Is Molas Golf Course in Sardinia. Rocca's rise to fame began in 1978 when he won the Italian Caddie Championship. Last year, Scotland's Dean Robertson beat Ireland's Padraig Harrington by one stroke to win his first European Tour title. The prize fund for the event – which began in 1925 – tops 1m euros.

Our reputation stands behind them.

Great sound. Small size. No compromise.

With more than 30 years of industry-leading innovation, Bose® has created three acoustic waveguide products that are favourites of audio critics and music lovers alike. After experiencing their award-winning sound, compact size, and intuitive simplicity, you'll understand why Bose is considered the most respected name in sound.

Rich sound from our top-of-the-line integrated system.

Why settle for the big and bulky components of an ordinary stereo when you can enjoy the extraordinary sound of a sleek, all-in-one music system? The Acoustic Wave® music system includes an AM/FM tuner, a CD player, and something you won't find in any conventional stereo – our acoustic waveguide speaker technology. Much as a flute strengthens a breath of air to fill an entire concert hall, the waveguide produces rich, room-filling sound from a small enclosure. In fact, when we first introduced the Acoustic Wave® music system, Stereo Review said it had "...possibly the best-reproduced sound many people have ever heard." Hard to believe the entire system is the size of a briefcase.

You'll hear the difference the very first time you turn on the Acoustic Wave® music system. Patented Bose technology gives your favourite CDs and radio programmes a clarity and richness that will astound you – no matter what the volume. And with our credit card-sized remote control, you can control this award-winning sound from the palm of your hand. With all this, it's no wonder many people use it as their primary stereo.

Even smaller systems for even smaller spaces.

Wish you had great sounding music in your bedroom or office? Try the Bose Wave radio, with or without the built-in CD player. It utilises a smaller version of our acoustic waveguide speaker technology to give you sparkling high notes, full bass, and a clarity that's remarkable for something its size. The Oregonian said that the Wave radio/CD "...remains one of those little unexplained miracles of acoustic physics...." Our original Wave radio is designed just as impressively. Other features include dual alarms, a credit card-sized remote control, and six AM and six FM station presets.

Call now and make six interest-free payments.

Audition one in your home today. Call now to learn about our in-home trial, 100% satisfaction guarantee, and easy payment plan. Let Bose put an acoustic waveguide product in front of you. And hear all that stands behind them.

LIVE FORD SUPER SUNDAY: BRADFORD CITY V LEEDS UNITED SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

Leeds must have thought they'd seen the last of Yorkshire rivals Bradford last season. However, while City unexpectedly finished strong, Leeds stumbled to third place, and the two can start to play for local honour once again. Bradford, with old favourites like Dean Windass (pictured, left), will try and survive a second successful league campaign, but Leeds, with the experience of men like Lee Bowyer (pictured, right), will expect nothing less than a win.

ATP TOURNAMENT IN BASEL
BRITISH EUROSPORT 1.30PM

A chance to see a repeat of the action from the ATP tour in Switzerland. The $1m Davidoff Swiss Indoors in Basel has historically been a good one for the British contingent. Tim Henman (pictured) took the title in 1998, and compatriot Greg Rusedski was the winner in the year prior to that. Henman made the final last year, but was beaten in a thrilling five-set match by Karol Kucera of Slovakia. These three big names were expected to be joined by Magnus Norman and Lleyton Hewitt.

LIVE TENNIS: WTA TOURAMENT IN LEIPZIG BRITISH EUROSPORT 5.00PM

The second day of the Sparkassen Cup International Grand Prix sees the world's top players vying for a share of the $535,000 prize money which, in the past, has fallen mostly to the Germans who have taken the title for seven out of the ten years the competition has been running. However, France's Nathalie Tauziat broke the tradition last year, and Australia's 17-year-old star Jelena Dokic (pictured), who was born in the former Yugoslavia ,will hope to make her mark this year.

"I'll give you my £19.95 Car Vac absolutely free just for trying my 8½-lb. Oreck XL®."

David Oreck

Hi, I'm David Oreck. I'm so confident that my 50% more powerful, 8½-lb. Oreck XL is pound for pound, the best vacuum in the world that I'll give you my Oreck Car Vac just for taking The Oreck Challenge.

That's right – you get to keep the Car Vac, a £19.95 value just for trying my 8½-lb. marvel risk-free for 15 days. The Oreck XL is rated #1 in pick-up performance by a leading international consumer testing institute. It's used in thousands of luxury hotels, airports, offices and millions of homes like yours. In fact, this vacuum is so extraordinary, it's used at The Windsor Court, which Condé Nast Traveler magazine called the best hotel in the world. It's hypo-allergenic and has virtually every feature you could ask for in a vacuum. The Car Vac is rated #1 for superior cleaning ability and ease of use.

If you don't love the 8½-lb. Oreck XL, you don't keep it. But if you do decide to keep it, I'll also give you my super-powerful 5-lb. Compact Vacuum, as a gift. It's the one you've seen on TV pick up a bowling ball. So take The 15-Day Oreck Challenge and get your home and your car Oreck clean.

Coverage of the American Election

A SITE FOR SORE EYES

THE Cable Guide website (www.cableguide.co.uk) is the best on the net for layout, and easy to use – well done. I like the e-mail programme reminder, it's very useful indeed.

Mike Gayfer, e-mail

THE PLACE TO BE

MELROSE PLACE [Sky One] is excellent – what could be better than good-looking males and stupid storylines on a Sunday afternoon?

Fran Richards e-mail

SEEING AC/DC?

I AM A BIG FAN of rock supremos AC/DC and understand that they have recorded a VH1 Behind The Music special that our American counterparts have already seen. Why not show the AC/DC special to us Brits?

Bob Fiddaman e-mail

There's a £50 prize for the star letter!

● VH1 responds: 'We are giving* Behind the Music: AC/DC its UK premiere on Sunday 29th at 10.00pm. Behind the Music *is a VH1 US production that we have to clear through ITC. This process often takes a couple of months, which is why we have the delay.'

A WING AND A PRAYER

I AM NOT a big fan of Dragonball Z but I love Japanese cult cartoons. There's this one called Gundam Wing which is shown on the American Cartoon Network and not here, but it's brilliant! Will it be shown on Cartoon Network in the UK?

Devereaux Moulder e-mail

● Cartoon Network responds: 'Following the success of many cartoons in America, Cartoon Network Europe continues to look at all types of new programming, and we are certainly not ruling out other action and Japanese cartoons for the future. Stay tooned!'

Super stuff: American footballers get to grips with each other in robust style

★ LEXX BE HAVING YOU

THANKS to the summer holidays I've taken full advantage of some excellent late-night viewing, and I have really enjoyed Lexx: The Series. The last episode ended with some loose ends and questions unanswered, so will there be another series and, if so, when will it be shown? Also, which year was Lexx: The Series made?

J Parker, West Midlands

● Congratulations! You have won £50 for writing this month's prize letter!

Sci-Fi in America has just commissioned a fourth series of* Lexx, likely to go into production in the new year. Sci-Fi informs us that Lexx: The Series will probably be repeated later this year or early next year. Lexx: The Dark Zone, *the first series (made up of four TV movies), was made in 1996, and the third series finished production at the start of this year.

NOT BOXING CLEVER

I AM WRITING to complain about The Box. It recently took over five hours before my vote for The Corrs was screened. I know everyone's vote is in a queue, but there's no need for viewers to be expected to wait that length of time. The Box should be ashamed of itself for leaving us waiting so long.

Sam, Southampton

● David Young, Programme Director at The Box, replies: 'I am very sorry to hear of the long delay you experienced waiting for your selected video to play on The Box. We do have highs and lows in terms of queue length, but your wait is far beyond any expectations we have for the channel. The Box team rates the opinions and satisfaction of its viewers extremely highly. So, if something like this happens again, please call our Customer Services line (020 7343 8716) and our staff will be able to assist with your selection, and see why the delay occurred.'

THE GREAT ESCAPE

WHAT a brilliant series on Discovery Home & Leisure – Escape to River Cottage with Hugh Fearnely-Whittingstall. Please can you give me more details about him, and will the series be repeated?

S Jarmain, London

● Escape to River Cottage *is being repeated on Discovery Home & Leisure every Tuesday from the 4th at 8.35am and 4.00pm. You can write to Hugh (left) via Anthony Topping, Green Heaton Ltd, 37 Goldhawk Road, London, W12 8QQ.

SUPER BOWL TALK

DO THE PEOPLE at Sky Sports intend to ruin their coverage of the American Football season by continuing to have their own commentators for the Super Bowl? They go through the whole season with American commentators, such as John Madden, who are experts in reading the game and have covered it successfully and entertainingly for countless years, and then spoil the big finale by having their own inane people ruin the spectacle completely.

Kevin Dewar e-mail

● Sky Sports responds: 'Super Bowl is in mid-January and plans are not finalised as yet. Our commentator, Nick Halling, is the only non-American to have network commentary on American Football across the States.'

CORRIE IN COLOUR

REGARDING Richard Hammond's letter (September Viewers' Views) about Classic Coronation Street, I should like to correct Granada Plus's response to the question about pre-1976 episodes. To say that episodes were shown in black and white before this particular date is not true. Black-and-white transmissions of the Street ended in November 1969 with ITV's launch into colour, and not seven years later as claimed by Granada Plus. My father was an actor in the programme at the time, and as a family we all excitedly sat down to watch the first episode ever to be broadcast in colour, on Wednesday November 12th, 1969.

Ritchie Hardin, e-mail

● We stand corrected, Ritchie! Granada Plus explains that* Classic Coronation Street *episodes began from 1976 because they were advised that this was a good starting point for viewers to follow from.

'Viewers' Views' may be edited for length.

HOW DO I APPLY?

You are welcome to apply for a loan if you:

- do not have any County Court Judgments
- are aged between 22 and 65
- have a bank or building society current account
- are resident in the UK.

Call us free on 0800•2•15000. We'll ask a few more questions about your home, work, bank or building society, income and outgoings. And we'll usually give you a decision there and then. It's that simple.

WHAT'S A TYPICAL EXAMPLE?

For a loan of £5,000 repayable over 36 months, each monthly repayment would be £161.18. The total amount payable would be £5,802.48. APR 10.4%.

For your peace of mind, we offer a Repayment Protection Plan ('RPP'), which covers your repayments in the event of accident, illness or even redundancy.
